Crash In India Takes Airliner With 40 Aboard

Had Started Out From Calcutta, London-Bound

CALCUTTA, India, Sunday, May 3 (AP)—A Comet jet airliner with three Americans and a party of rubber-tin operators from Malaya reported aboard crashed in a violent storm late yesterday within minutes after takeoff from Calcutta. The plane carried 40 to 42 persons.

The Singapore-to-London plane was lost for hours until village police reported today it had crashed 30 miles southeast of Calcutta.

There were no other details immediately.

Since it was en route to New Delhi, to the northeast, indications were that it was forced off course by a near hurricane which swept the Calcutta city area last night in the onset of the summer monsoon.

The plane's British operators and the U. S. consulate in Singapore reported the three Americans had booked passage for New Delhi in the plane. It stopped en route at Bangkok, Rangoon and Calcutta, and there was no immediate available list of passengers aboard on the Calcutta-New Delhi hop.

The three, with no home addresses available were identified in Singapore as Miss Jean S. Cohen and Miss Anita Whistler, on a round-the-world tour, and the Rev. Paul Snead, Methodist missionary.

The girls visited the U. S. consulate in Singapore Friday and asked that their mail be forwarded to the U. S. Embassy, Tel Aviv, Israel.

Snead, head of the Anglo-Chinese school at Ipoh, Malaya, was en route to visit his two children in school at New Delhi and planned later to visit his wife at Colombo, Ceylon.

The Comet, en route from Singapore to London on a new BOAC Far East service, left Dum Dum at 4:30 p.m. on the scheduled three-hour flight to New Delhi.

Six minutes later it made the routine report: "Climbing on track." Then there was silence and aviation officials have feared sudden disaster struck the four-jet airliner in flight.

These officials said lack of radio warning indicated a serious mishap struck the plane and predicted all aboard may be lost. The Comet's loss would be India's greatest aviation disaster.

Deputy Mayor Of Tunis Slain By Assassin

TUNIS, Tunisia, May 2 (AP)—Deputy Mayor Chedli Kastally, 71, an Arab newspaper publisher generally considered pro-French, was shot to death here today on the eve of elections in which he was a candidate for return to the city council.

Fear of a recurrence of the Nationalist-inspired violence of 1952 developed in some sectors of the North African protectorate. A number of Tunisians who had campaigned for office in the 34 towns and villages choosing councilmen tomorrow were reported to have withdrawn.

A young machinegunner cut down Kastally as he was walking to work along a thoroughfare separating the European and Arab sections of Tunis. The killer fled into the Arab section.

Police announced tonight they had arrested three Tunisian youths at a house containing an arms cache and that one admitted the killing. The three were described officially as members of a terrorist gang.

The same outfit, police said, fired last night on Commerce Minister Ben Rais. Rais escaped injury, but one of his bodyguards was wounded. Independence minded Nationalists regard the whole Tunisian cabinet as a puppet government manipulated by the French.

Sport Manager Answers Beer Stand Of City

Declaring that the Monroe City Council acted unlawfully when it banned the selling of beer at American Legion Stadium in Bernstein Park last week, Paul Manasseh, manager of the Monroe Sports Baseball Corporation, stated that the organization will seek the protection of the courts.

"Although Sub-section (a) of Ordinance 2979, enacted June 1952, prohibits the selling of alcoholic beverages within 300 feet of public playgrounds," said Manasseh, "it also states that the restrictions do not apply to any bona fide fraternal order, nor to any premises licensed to sell such beverages for a period of one year prior to the passage of the ordinance." The selling of beer at the stadium has been licensed since 1950.

"The Monroe Sports Baseball Corporation has sought to provide a good brand of baseball for the people of this area, and has been successful," Manasseh said. "However, even with the public's support, it is difficult for a Class 'C' baseball club to meet expenses. The concessions at the stadium helped to make this possible.

"Unlike many other baseball parks, where beer is sold in the grandstands, a place was provided underneath the stands at American Legion Stadium, where patrons could buy beer and drink it. We sincerely believe that such an operation is as inoffensive to the public as possible.

"This year, as in the past, the beer permit for the stadium was purchased from the City of Monroe in good faith, and at the cost of several hundred dollars.

Committee To Hear 'Tommy The Cork'

WASHINGTON, May 2—UP—Tommy Corcoran, one-time member of the late President Roosevelt's brain trust, will be called before House tax investigators soon for questioning about his relations with Henry W. Grunewald, it was learned Saturday.

Grunewald, a busy man-about-Washington for many years, recently told the House ways and means subcommittee investigating tax scandals that he performed an investigative job for Mr. Roosevelt at the request of Corcoran. He Subcommittee members said Corcoran, known as "Tommy the Cork" and a familiar figure around the White House until about 1940, would be asked to give public testimony on what Grunewald did for the late President. Corcoran is now a Washington attorney.

Pilot Of Spotter Aircraft Killed

LOUISVILLE, Tex., May 2—UP—An L-19 artillery spotter plane from the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard at Eagle Mountain Air Base crashed Saturday, killing the pilot.

The plane crashed and burned two miles west of Lewisville off a gravel road, National Guard Maj. Sid Pietzsch said.

Name of the dead pilot was withheld, pending notification of next-of-kin.

Death Toll Of Tornadoes 29 In Three Days

Four More Die As Twisters Hit Again In South

ATLANTA, Ga., May 2—(UP)—A relentless tornado barrage took four more lives in the fearful South Saturday, making 29 deaths in three days, and weathermen warned more twisters might strike three states Saturday night.

The dreaded black funnels killed three members of one family in Meigs county, eastern Tennessee, and hurled a plane to earth near Benton, Tenn., killing its pilot.

"Severe thunderstorms are expected over Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina Saturday and early Saturday night," the Atlanta weather bureau said in a special bulletin.

Seven were killed by tornadoes in north Alabama Friday night. The death toll at Warner Robins, Ga., and surrounding communities hit Thursday stood at 18.

The total tornado damage toll approached $20 million.

Tens of thousands of southerners in exposed rural communities were living in the shadow of the hurtling black cones of death and destruction as new storm bulletins were broadcast. Never in 50 years had such an extended cyclonic rampage plagued the Deep South.

Twisters swept through four places in Meigs county, midway between Chattanooga and Knoxville, and two places in adjoining McMinn county before dawn Saturday. The storm blew away Carl Harmon's home as if it had been a paper house. Killed were Harmon and his wife, both about 40, and their daughter, Doris, 14.

Another funnel, which apparently caused no damage aground, caught Charles W. Dubois' plane in its mighty drafts shortly after he took off from Knoxville with his family for a Florida vacation. The plane was first carried aloft, then driven to the ground on John Lillard's farm near Benton, Tenn. Dubois, 41, was killed and his wife and son, William Arnold, were critically injured.

All seven of Alabama's storm fatalities were reported near Ashland, 75 miles southest of Birmingham. Other twisters struck in the Calera area 35 miles south of Birmingham, causing several injuries but no deaths.

Twister Hits Fort Mitchell In Alabama

PHENIX CITY, Ala., May 2 (AP)—Phenix City police said a tornado hit Fort Mitchell, Ala., just south of here tonight.

Police Sgt. C. W. Ellis said about 25 houses were reported damaged or destroyed. He had no report of any casualties. But Ellis said Phenix City had the nearest hospitals and any casualties would probably be brought there.

"The storm hit the south section of the town, which is mostly a Negro section," Ellis said.

The sergeant said a county maintenance crew had been called to the area to clear the highway of fallen trees and debris. He said the entire Russell County sheriff's force and two Alabama highway patrol cars were on the scene.

The storm hit Fort Mitchell about 6:50 p. m. (CST), Ellis estimated. He said the first report was received about an hour later.

He noted that "there was a bad cloud over Phenix City about that time."

Fort Mitchell is on a paved, unnumbered highway about 12 miles south of Phenix City. It sets between U. S. Highway 241 and the Chattahoochee River which separates Georgia and Alabama.

WM Aldermen Not To Contest Court Ruling

Accept Decision In 'Interest Of West Monroe'

Three West Monroe aldermen, who were declared illegally holding offices by the Fourth District court and the Second Court of Appeals in Shreveport, have indicated they will not contest the decision "in the interest of West Monroe." The acceptance of the ruling of the court of appeals and indication that they hoped for an early election was made public Saturday morning by Ed Hislop, Jr., R. C. Mahaffey, and Whit O. Smith.

All three were appointed last year by Governor Robert F. Kennon to fill vacancies which then existed.

In announcing that they had ac-

Ruston Jurist Offers To Sit In W. M. Court

District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr., has received a telegram from Ruston City Judge C. A. Barnett in which the jurist offered to sit on the West Monroe bench "in the unusual dilemma facing them." The communication was received Saturday morning.

This is the second judge to offer to preside on the West Monroe bench since the ousting of Judge Howell Heard by the supreme court. The high court of the state upheld a ruling by the local district court that the Kennon - appointed men could not hold the offices.

Judge W. M. Harper of the Monroe city court Friday offered to serve in West Monroe until the present situation is settled, by an election possibly in mid-summer.

The telegram from Judge Barnett read as follows:

"It appears from news items in the Monroe papers that your Honorable body may see fit to appoint some other city judge to serve as interim judge of West Monroe city court until the vacancy existing in that court ca be filled by a election. If this procedure should be decided upon, I herewith tender my services during your pleasure and until such time as the vacancy can be filled. The extra duty would not seriously conflict with my position as judge of the Ruston city court. This offer is made in a sincere desire to serve the people of West Monroe in the usual dilemma facing them."

40 Repatriates Reach U. S. Soil

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., May 2—UP—Forty more men came back Saturday from the Communist prison camps of North Korea and were to be speeded to their homes or hospitals in the U. S. and Puerto Rico.

Their arrival on the third place of the army's "Freedom Airlift" from Tokyo was quiet and orderly, in sharp contrast to the noisy confusion that marked the first flight on Wednesday.

Calcasieu River On Rampage At Oakdale

3,500 Persons Homeless

OAKDALE, La., May 2 (AP)—More than 3,500 persons were driven from their homes in the Oakdale area today by the rising Calcasieu River.

Since Thursday night when the river started to rise, more than 700 homes have been evacuated. Terrential rains on Wednesday caused the river to rise.

The roofs were all that could be seen of some of the houses between the town and the river. Some residents reported seeing snakes in Oakdale, driven out of the lowlying area into the dry section of the town.

High waters forced the closing of U. S Highway 165 between Oakdale and Oberlin and State Route 22 between Oakdale and Elizabeth.

Bridges were submerged. The water inched into Oakdale, reaching within three blocks of the main street.

Glenmora, about 20 miles upstream, reported the stream down two inches from its crest, but Oakdale residents saw no sign of the decline.

53 Repatriates Wait In Japan

TOKYO, Sunday, May 3 (AP)—A total of 53 repatriated American war prisoners—the last of 149 sick and ailing exchanged by the Communists last week—awaited medical clearance today and for many the long airlift home will begin within a few days.

Some of those still here reacted sharply to published reports that a group of released British repatriates reaching home had denounced the Korean War as "stupid" and "useless."

Others told of their ordeal following their capture, of begging for food from their victors and of a "valley of agony" where the bitter cold brought death to many but saved the life of at least one man.

As for the British reports, Cpl. John King of San Antonio, Tex., and Orlando, Fla., said he didn't think much of the comments that the war was futile.

"We came here to stop aggression," he said. "Somebody had to stop the Communists. If they were not stopped in Korea they would just keep grabbing."

King said the statements attributed to some of the 22 British released at Lyneham, England, yesterday were "just what the Communists want to hear."

He added that some of the British "did not like the Chinese at all and some seemed to get along with the Chinese better than they should have."

Marine Cpl. David P. Lang of Brooklyn, N. Y., said the British statements were "not true" and declared "I think they might have turned (Communist) a little bit."

The Americans and British lived together in the prison camps. Lang said he had been with the British so closely he had acquired a slight accent.

Marine Sgt. Donald A. Rose of Redlands, Calif., was asked whether most of the British he met in camp felt the same as the Britons who told of good treatment from the Reds and replied: "It would vary, you could perhaps get some Americans to say those same things."

Sgt. Harry A. Cutting of Belle Plaine, Ia., and Kansas City, Mo., who now calls Los Angeles his

Deadline Near For Signing Of Tax Exemptions

The deadline for signing homestead tax exemption forms is only 12 days off, Bert Coverdale, Ouachita Parish tax assessor, stated Saturday morning. After the May 15 deadline, no exemptions will be allowed for those who have not signed the necessary forms.

The Ouachita Parish assessor has had the rolls for this parish in his office for the past several months. Signing the forms takes only a few minutes, Coverdale said. He urged everyone to take advantage of the money - saving signature as soon as possible.

Until the deadline, Coverdale pointed out that his office would remain open during the noon hour and on Saturday mornings, times which the office is usually closed.

An act of the 1952 state legislature made it mandatory that all home owners sign the forms to be allowed the reduction of the special tax.

Body Of Crewman On Tug Is Found

NEW IBERIA, La., May 2 (AP)—The body of a New Orleans man believed to have blown off a tug was found today about two miles off Cypremort Point in Vermilion Bay.

Kenneth Davis Wins Road-E-O Contest Here

Kenneth Davis, 17-year-old Ouachita parish high school student, 406 Linderman, West Monroe, was chosen winner of a teen-age road-e-o held yesterday under the sponsorship of the Monroe-West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce. Davis scored a high of 423 out of a possible 500.

The selection was made after 19 high school students from the Twin Cities and one from Rayville took tests under the eyes of representatives of all safety organizations in the parish.

The contest, which began at 1 p. m. and continued until approximately 5 p. m., was held at the Cloverleaf Dairy parking lot, located at Louisville Avenue and 18th Street.

Placing second and third were Jimmy Berry, 18, 704 South Seventh Street, West Monroe, and Charles Whitaker, 16, 110 Winnsboro Road, Monroe.

Presentation of the trophies and government saving bonds to the three winners will be made at a night meeting of the Jaycee organization Monday at the Rendezvous.

As winner of the local contest, Davis will receive a $100 savings bond and the James A. Noe safety trophy. He will also represent the Twin Cities in the state road-e-o contest, slated to be held June 6 in Monroe.

Berry will receive a $50 savings bond and the R. & A. safety trophy, while Whitaker will get a $25 bond and the Howard Brothers safety award.

Wesley Burdine, safety chairman for the Jaycee group, said the Jaycees throughout the nation are conducting these contests to demonstrate teen - age driving ability. "We want the public to appreciate their skill and the teenagers themselves to realize that

Former Official Held For Trial On Three More

Case Based On Testimony At Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Charges that Owen Lattimore lied when he denied Communist sympathies were thrown out today by a federal judge who declared America must not destroy freedom of belief while fighting Red infiltration.

But District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl ordered Lattimore to trial Oct. 6 on three lesser perjury charges.

Even those three may not "pass the test of materiality so as to present a jury issue," he said, adding: "but this must await the trial."

Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University lecturer and one-time occasional consultant to the State Department, was indicted by a federal grand jury Dec. 16.

The charges, seven in all, grew out of his stormy 12 days of testimony last spring before the Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev)

French Reinforce Garrisons Around Capital Of Laos

HANOI, Indo-China, May 2 (AP)—Vietminh invasion vanguards from the north and east regrouped within 10 miles of Luangprabang today, apparently awaiting the arrival of more troops before attempting an assault on the palm-lined royal capital of Laos.

French and Laotian patrols ranging across the hills and mountains immediately surrounding the once beautiful home of aged, ailing King Sisavang Vong found none of the enemy in shooting range.

Heavy rains stymied French fighters and bombers which have been strafing and bombing Vietminh troop concentrations. But despite the bad weather, French transport planes poured still more troops and war supplies into Luangprabang from Hanoi, 275 miles to the north-east.

And in the royal seat the 6,000 civilians worked ceaselessly with French and Laotian soldiers, digging more and deeper trenches and stringing barbed wire entanglements against the Communist-led rebels who, when they strike, may outnumber the defenders four to one.

High School Students To Meet At Tech

RUSTON, La., May 2 (Special)—Combining vacation with learning, high school students from Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and Mississippi will convene July 6-18 at Louisiana Tech to participate in the college's fourth summer camp of music and dramatics.

The two-week summer camp program was instituted in 1950 with 43 students enrolled. Last year more than four times that number attended the session, giving it the reputation for being the fastest growing summer music camp in the south.

To accommodate the visiting students, Louisiana Tech will place its facilities at the disposal of the camp for the two-week period. Pupils will be under the supervision of teachers, counselors and house mothers.

"Parents can feel confident that adequate protection will be provided for the health and welfare of their boys and girls who attend the camp," according to L. V. E. Irvine, head of the college music department and summer camp director.

For their daily study routines, summer camp students will participate in six hours of classwork. Included in the courses to be elected are the all-camp band, all-camp choir, and 36 other areas of study in instruments, voice, twirling, dramatics, journalism and photography.

On the schedule for out-of-class hours are movies concerts, swimming, picnics and other entertainment.

Tuition fee for the two weeks will be $40, provided a $6 registration fee is submitted before June 1. Tuition for those who register after June 1 will be $43.

Some Old Chinese Proverbs

There have always been people who enjoy quoting other people and who appreciate good advice. The American people are no exceptions to this premise until it comes to foreign affairs and relations with other nations. The Americans, and Western peoples seem never to take the words of enemy leaders as bordering on the truth.

Adolph Hitler, the Invertiel Austrian who was to become the Fuhrer of Germany mapped out his entire future in his book 'Mien Kampf," or "My Fight," stating clearly that there could be no peace for Germany on the terms laid down by Britain and France and the Versailles "Dictat." He further showed his hand clearly by asserting that he could not respect the neutral boundries of nations if they interfered with the "New World Order." There was nobody in the United States, Britain or France who thought that these statements were anything but sheer madness. However, the sceptics were wrong. Hitler followed the text of his written beliefs almost to the letter.

There are the writings of Lenin and Karl Marx. These two put their hopes and dreams on paper, Lenin in his famous "letters" and Marx in the Communist Manefesto." Nobody at the time thought these were anything but the ravings of maniacs. Look how far they have gone. However, for military genius, there is hardly a master for Mao Tse-Tung, the Chinese Communist leader. If any American military officials would have taken the trouble to read his battle plans which are in books obtainable in the West, they might have been able to foretell the future of the Korean battle. They might have prevented the demise of the Chinese Republic.

Mao's tactics are and have been in use by the Soviets for years. Mao is an expert at guerrilla warfare. His tactics in this were used with great success against the Germans. In short, they are simple. Mao said to his army when it was still in Yenan, the Capital of Chinese Communism for the years before the war, "When the enemy advances, we retreat. When he escapes, we harass. When he retreats, we pursue. When he is tired, we attack."

Simple. So simple, many American military leaders thought they were impossible. Mao didn't and these tactics explain the false peace talks, the Chinese type warfare and they explain what will happen in the future. For sheer military genius, Mao has yet to meet his match. In the American army, there is a saying, "There is nothing so resourceful as an American soldier when the going is bad, but nothing disintegrates as fast as an American army when there is victory."

Mao further said, "We want to take the enemy's eyes and ears and seal them as completely as possible. We want to make them blind and deaf; we want to take out the hearts of their officers; we want to throw them into utter confusion, driving them mad." Mao has a remarkable parallel with Ghengis Khan, his forebearer, who believed, "A man's greatest joy in life is to break his enemies, and to take from them all the things that have been theirs."

The Chinese leaders, believe that war is glorious and inevitable. They don't care how long war lasts as they are the possessors of limitless time and unlimited lives. A year to the West is as a hundred years to the Orient. The entire concept of life in the Orient is as different from that of the West as are the trees of summer and winter. To the Chinese, patience is a virtue. He regards his material as important and paramount; his men expendable. The American and Western leader regards his men as paramount and his material as expendable.

When the Mongolian legions of Mao descended upon the hapless "U. N." armies in the late days of 1950, these armies should have clearly been forewarned as the sage advice of Chiang was there for the taking. What else could have been possible under the circumstances? The Americans were tired and wanted to go home. They were victorious. Mao, who is a student of the West, knew this, therefore, when the Americans least expected such an attack, it came. It came as shapes rising out of the endless brown wastes of the Orient, it came as though the Mongolian horsemen were beings out of the past. It struck the Western troops and the terrified South Koreans who fear Chinese, like a scythe. It struck with the force of the ancient Khans. In truth, Mao and his legions which are numerous as are the grains of wheat in an acre are descended from these Khans. The force knocked the Allies off balance. They had to retreat all the way from the Yalu river to the 38th parallel.

The Chinese, following Mao's tactics, harassed and pursued. Then, the Americans struck back; the Chinese again retreated. What was another retreat? Mao has limitless time. He has said so himself. When he goes, there will be others. These tactics are not only Chinese, as the reader who carefully studies the tactics of the Soviet battle commanders, will find them closely paralleling those of the great teacher, Mao. All throughout the second war, the German generals complained to an unbelieving Fuhrer that Oriental tactics formed on the wild steppes of Mongolia were being used against the Wehrmacht. In fact, the tactics of Communism are akin to Oriental philosophy. Divide and conquer.

Americans should have learned lessons from the Japanese who showed that tank tactics learned at Fort Bragg cannot be applied to the rice paddies of the Philippines. There was a man long ago, an American who had never been to the Orient when he began his studies, who wrote two books entitled "The Day of the Saxon," and "The Valor of Ignorance." His name was Homer Lea. He knew, perhaps more than any other American, the philosophy of the Orient. He predicted exactly where the Japanese would land in the Philippines and why they would attack. The startling fact is, he predicted this some 40 years before the events took place. However, nobody would believe. The Japanese bombed American Airplanes lined wingtip to wingtip at Clark Field. That should have taught a lesson. However, those same Americans were guilty of the same crime in Australia, in England, in France and in other places. Why can't experience be a teacher? Today, the West is faced with a new religion, one backed by battle tactics as old as the Peiking Man himself.

There are lessons to be learned.

It is time to begin studying before it is too late.

Singapore

There is a strategic base at the end of the Malay peninsula which is today in just as much danger as it was in 1941 when the Japanese began to organize their "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere." That danger lies in the lack of military defenses it lies in the lack of manpower which the British station there, but it lies mostly in the general attitude of its teeming citizens. That attitude is one of lethargy. "It can't happen to us," said an old time British resident of the Crown Colony who had spent four long years in the Japanese prison compounds.

That may well be so, but it happened before and it may happen again. In the days gone by, Great Britain believed that the fortress of Singapore was absolutely impregnable. The British defense planners had it all figured out that the huge coast guns could knock out any enemy which attempted to invade the island bastion. These British officers were conservative and through the years, this feeling became somewhat of a legend. Unfortunately, the Japanese officers agreed with the British "experts" and also held that Singapore was impregnable from the sea.

Therefore, they refused to play "cricket" with the Englishmen and decided to attack from the rear. From their newly (1940) established base in French Indo-China, the wily Japanese marines obtained easily, a bridgehead in the upper Malay states around the area of Lota Bahru. From this well-supplied bastion the Japanese Army and Marines poured down through the rubber plantations until they had reached the area of Johore Bahru right across the straits of Singapore. They reached this point not too long after the new year's opening of 1942.

The desperate British who know that Singapore "just couldn't fall," dispatched the "indestructible" ships of the British line, "Repulse" and "Prince of Wales" to the Japanese supply routes between Indo-China and Malay. This was a disaster of the first order as the "indestructible" ships were immediately destroyed by the alert Japanese army fliers based on the peninsula and in the Saigon area. With this terrible disaster which the British had been claiming couldn't happen, the victorious Japanese troops poured across the straits and captured on February 15, 1942, the "impregnable" Asiatic stronghold of the Empire of Singapore, along with 60,000 Australians, British, South Africans, Indians and other troops of the commonwealth.

Thus, what couldn't happen, did happen and it was not until the signing of the peace treaty on board an American warship in Tokyo Bay in late summer of 1945 that the British rule was restored to Singapore and the Malay states. Unfortunately for the British, the flames fanned in Asia by the "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere" of the Japanese spread to the Malay states. It was the flames of Nationalist freedom and the knowledge that the white man could be beaten in war and was not as superior to the Asiatic, which has aroused the Asian nations to demand an equal footing with the Westerners. This has been put to excellent use by the Communists who know how to use Nationalist forces for their own betterment.

Now, after some seven or eight years, the horrors of the Japanese occupation are apparently forgotten. The residents of Singapore are again convinced that "it can't happen here." How wrong they are. In 1953, a force far more powerful than the Japanese lies to the north of already uneasy Malaya. It is composed of Mao and his Mongolian legions. It is also composed of Ho and his Viet Minh legions and all of this is backed up by the great bastion of world Communism which is the Soviet Union. The Malayan citizens and rubber planters are very aware that there is trouble. Murder after murder was committed by the Communists in Malaya until the British agreed to sell the Chinese "People's Republic" rubber, and plenty of it.

There is still unrest, but not on the same scale as before this trade deal. The British, lulled to sleep by wistful Chinese propaganda, seem to forget that Communists don't like to buy things when it is theirs if they take it. Should Ho, who is apparently mopping up the French in Indo-China at this point, receive orders to invade the Malay states, the British will find themselves right back where they started in 1941-42. There is never any place in these days of fearful weapons and scientific warfare, which cannot be "taken." The great British base at Singapore is again in dire danger and if the British don't rush to its aid, this base will join the "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere" which these days is under new management and is called the "Awakened Asian People's National Forces of Liberation." There is little time. Singapore is far from impregnable.

Who Owns The Booth?

There is a booth on DeSiard street in front of one of the F. W. Woolworth stores which has been in the same spot for many, many months. It is situated in a most crowded section of the sidewalk and generally holds the pedestrian traffic in its area to a trickle. The booth is used during the Christmas holidays as a donation booth by the Salvation Army and it is also used during some other fund collecting drives.

However, it has been many weeks since there was a necessity for this booth and it is, in the meantime, halting the pedestrian traffic and causing a "jam" in front of the stores in that area.

This is a growing community. It should take pride in its appearance, but it cannot as long as there are such eyesores as partially disassembled donation booths on the main streets of the city. Such objects retard the general appearance of a community and reflect bad light on that community to the visitors.

Whoever is responsible for the booth, should take the effort to remove it until time to use it again.

Russia will be deviating from the Stalin line for a fact if it goes through with its announced intention to emphasize the love theme in future movies. "Good Old Joe" always emphasized the "America is an ogre" theme.

Lights Over Broadway

As the plane approached "The Monte Carlo of the West" we learned how Carole Lombard died. "There's the mountain peak where she was killed," said our neighbor. "If the plane veered just a few hundred inches — it could never have happened."

"The Scuttlebutt among fliers," said the man "is that Carole must have been up front gabbing with the pilot. He probably wasn't looking as he explained the gadgets on the board to her. She was so pretty he probably couldn't stop looking at her. Anyway, most pilots call it Lombard Peak."

He told us part of the plane can still be seen. "It's like a dart sticking into the side of the mountain."

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

HOLLYWOOD, May 2 — Movie directors strive for realism. This has been a must in film-making since the feature film was introduced. A few days ago at RKO I watched a bit of realism which sent shivers down my spine. Due to an accident, the realism was much too real. I had walked out to one of the stages to watch Linda Darnell and Jack Palance do a scene in "Second Chance," in which they co-star with Robert Mitchum. It is the Edmund Grainger production with a South American background, that I recently mentioned in one of these pieces.

Director Rudy Mate escorted me and one or two others to the set. It was a small telegraph and telephone office. Block letters on the window proclaimed "Telegrafos and Telephonos." Inside was a row of phone booths. Mate explained: "Palance plays the role of a killer who is sent to South America to rub out Linda Darnell before a crime committee can locate her and bring her back to testify against her former sweetheart, a gangster from whom she is fleeing."

Knowing that Palance is on her trail, Miss Darnell enters this telegraph office to wire her sister. Palance catches up with her here. Miss Darnell goes about the business of writing a telegram, and it is in this bit of action that Palance finds her and grasps her left wrist firmly.

I was watching idly, as this was just another scene in thousands I have seen in the routine of picture-making. Linda was startled — a part of the play. Fright was written on her features. She struggled to get loose and failed. Raising her right hand, she plunged the point of the pen at the hand holding her wrist. Palance jerked his arm back and covered his right hand with his left. Linda fled and Jack registered pain. Then, without a word Palance walked over to the director and removing his left hand from his right, exposed the wound. Accidentally, Linda had made a bullseye instead of a near miss, as planned. The penpoint was embedded deep into the back of Palance's hand.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Washington has not yet figured out exactly the meaning of the new security test for federal employes, but it could be used to replace Democrats with Republicans in many spots to which Civil Service regulations now make access tough. Since the president's new and rather novel order was issued several days ago an uneasy sensation has spread through the ranks of federal workers over the country, but for no convincing reason.

Nevertheless opinion here is divided, with Democrats contending that since most federal employes were cleared under the old security program for the jobs they now hold, no sensible argument can be advanced for demanding further clearance.

The Republican answer is that the old security clearance in many cases was unsatisfactory, that people in important and "sensitive" posts who were or are regarded as poor security risks are still hanging on, in several instances after having successfully appealed original decisions recommending their dismissal.

In the president's new order, the head of a department — and it covers all departments instead of only the so called "sensitive" agencies — will have the final right to discharge an employee, which can scarcely fail to arouse political controversy, with charges that in many cases employees are being dropped only to make room for qualified Republicans.

The new rules issued by President Eisenhower — and their deeper significance is that they now establish a code of contact which federal workers here and elsewhere had better read closely — cover almost everything up to and possibly including laziness. That would seem to depend upon their interpretation by the several bureau and agency heads.

For example, an employee can be determined a security risk, to quote the most ambiguous of the standards: "for behaviour, activities or associations which tend to show that the individual is not reliable and trustworthy" or for acts "which furnish reason to believe that the individual may be subjected to coercion, influence or pressure which may cause him to act contrary to the best interests of national security".

Those two sections permit broad interpretation of what does constitute an act not in the best interests of national security. It would seem on the surface that a cabinet officer dissatisfied with the work of certain holdovers in his organization could bring them before an inquiry panel on security charges, since practically every agency of the government, in asking appropriations, insists that it is highly important to national security — and more of them are than the casual observer might believe.

One inquiring reporter several years ago spent most of one day touring the corridors of the great South Building of the Department of Agriculture, which has several thousand employes, and wound up with the observation that his feet were sore from miles of walking and that he had passed hundreds of doors to offices where employes were hardly turning a hand. They read papers, pared nails, ate apples and gazed out the windows toward the placid Potomac.

The only result of his report was an order from the office of the Secretary of Agriculture that office doors be kept closed. That is an extreme instance, never officially confirmed, but believed to be accurate. To an industrious and purposeful secretary like Ezra T. Benson, a great sprawling department with a multiplicity of employees doing little might be considered contrary to the best interests of our national security, while our armies are fighting in Korea. That is not to say that any "purge" will occur anywhere under the latest Eisenhower order, but that idea has been suggested here by a number of Republicans.

However, it could work either way. Unquestionably, the federal government is the haven for some people with well paying jobs, better than tey could hold in private industry, who take it as easy as possible and wait until they can retire to Washington's pleasant suburbs or some warmer climate on a satisfactory pension.

There are of course fundamental objections to the use of the security order to displace undesirables in government unless it can be shown that they are actually security risks.

Quest For Oil Sets New Record For High Cost

TULSA, May 2—UP—Oil industry people say the hunt for new oil in the United States last year proved to be the most costly in history. The search cost about $2 billion.

H. J. Struth, petroleum consultant, writing in the May issue of The Petroleum Engineer, presents some discouraging facts for folks who think they'll get rich in the oil business.

Struth said that the average cost of finding, developing and producing oil last year ran about $2.35 per barrel for which the average operator received $2.56. He said the net return on the average oil well is "only $875."

Struth said exploration in the nation's newest oil boom area, the Williston Basin, North Dakota, has been the most expensive undertaking in oil industry history.

He said oil found this far has cost $175 million or an average of $2.41 for every barrel of proved reserves in the ground.

This is more than twice the national average cost of 98 cents to find a barrel of oil, Struth said. Neither figure includes cost of production.

Struth said last year's record exploration costs ran about five times that for finding the reserves which were discovered years ago and are now producing.

Progress Made By AFL And CIO Toward Merger

WASHINGTON, May 2—UP—AFL and CIO leaders trying to work out a merger of the two major labor organizations have moved along "very smoothly" in preliminary, behind-scenes negotiations, it was learned Saturday.

Committees of four from each side will report to AFL President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther at a formal "peace" meeting on Monday.

The report will cover inter-union "raiding," the first hurdle to be cleared in the seventh attempt since 1937 at creation of a united American labor movement embracing 12 million workers.

Without fanfare, the four-man committees have been holed up at National Labor Relations Board headquarters studying jurisdictional battles between rival AFL and CIO unions. "Raiding" is the attempt by one union from one organization to oust another with a rival affiliation as the bargaining agent in a given industry or plant.

One of the committeemen said: "So far the meetings are going along very smoothly." As evidence of "new co-operation," he cited a joint petition, signed by Secretaries William F. Schnitzler of the AFL, and James B. Carey of the CIO, for the NLRB to open its files for the study of raiding problems.

Bitter AFL-CIO feuds have been running in textile, electrical and other industries. The committees were said to be prepared to show in Monday's meeting at least, where the problem is most acute. Their initial findings will be a departure point for subsequent efforts to negotiate a truce.

French Voters Ballot Today In Smaller Cities

PARIS, May 2 (AP)—French voters return to the polls tomorrow in towns under 9,000 population to finish the job of electing 466,800 local officials.

Official statistics for last Sunday's voting showed the Communists were the strongest single party, getting 28.8 per cent of the vote for municipal councillors.

The Communists' total was a 1.9 per cent drop from their winnings in the 1947 municipal voting, when they got 30.7 per cent of the vote.

The Interior Ministry's figures were for the decisive results in towns and cities of 9,000 and up population, in which a proportional representation system was in effect.

The Communist success contrasted with the 15.2 per cent loss in votes suffered by the followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle. De Gaullists attracted only 10.6 per cent of the vote, compared to 25.8 per cent in 1947.

Tomorrow's voting will be in 18,059 hamlets and villages where candidates last Sunday failed to win an absolute majority of the votes. Now only a plurality will be required for election.

The Interior Ministry's figures gave a 4.3 per cent gain for the moderate Radical Socialist party group, the party of Premier Rene Mayer, and a seven-tenths of 1 per cent gain for the Catholic Popular Republican movement, the party of Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

A large success was won by a right-wing independent grouping, which campaigned under the banner of ex-Premier Antoine Pinay. This group claimed 1,859 councillors elected, for a 14 per cent gain over 1947. The Socialists won a 2.3 per cent gain.

Death Of Doctor Investigated In Ascension Parish

DONALDSONVILLE, La., May 2 (AP)—Ascension Parish authorities today investigated the cause of the death of Dr. Claude Champagne, Donaldsonville physician.

Sheriff Hickley Waguespack said Dr. Champagne was found dead at his home last night.

"We are keeping the investigation open until the autopsy report is available," Waguespack said.

"Dr. Brumfield, (Ascension Parish coroner), and other Donaldsonville doctors could not determine the cause of death and suggested an autopsy. The body was taken to the Orleans Parish coroner's office last night."

In New Orleans, the coroner's office said the results of the autopsy today would be forwarded to the Ascension Parish coroner.

Dr. Champagne was a graduate of Louisiana State University and its medical school.

Simulated Rescue Fools Air Pilot

ATHENS, May 2—UP—A Greek air force spokesman said Saturday night that an American commercial airliner had mistaken an air force life saving exercise for the "real thing" and reported a Greek Dakota down in the sea.

The spokesman said the air force had placed two airmen in a boat near the scene of the supposed crash and in simulated rescue operations Greek planes flying nearby sent out pre-arranged SOS signals.

A Trans-World Constellation flying from Cairo to Athens picked up the signals and reported the crash. The TWA airliner circled the area without, of course, sighting any wreckage.

3 Fined, One Remanded In Court Friday

One person received a probationary sentence, three others fined and one found guilty but remanded for sentence in Fourth District court Friday afternoon. Judge Jesse Heard presided.

W. M. Love, former city electrician, who pleaded guilty to forgery, was sentenced to the state penitentiary for five years, but placed on probation. He had previously entered a plea of guilty, withdrawn the plea and then later pleaded guilty again. His sentence was held over from Friday, April 24, in order that a pre-sentence investigation could be conducted.

Judge Heard fined David Harrington, Negro, $300 after a plea of guilty was entered on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was also fined $25 for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

Charles Doffer was fined $25 for not having a 1953 automobile license plate.

Found guilty, but remanded for sentence on May 18, was John Charles Deavers, who had been charged with reckless operation of a vehicle.

One person, Robert W. McAllister, charged with operating a motor vehicle with an overwidth load, forfeited a cash bond.

DYNAMITE UNDER CHURCH

RICHFIELD, Utah (AP)— Enough dynamite to blow a church to kingdom come was found recently under a chapel. The custodian discovered 48 sticks of dynamite and 22 detonating caps near the boiler room of the chapel of the (Latter-Day Saints) Mormon Church. The explosives had become moldy, and a bishop recalled that dynamite had been used to blast a hole in the cellar 30 years ago. It was thought a worker forgot to remove the unused explosives.

Neville Club Leaders Named

The Neville chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America climaxed a very successful year at the banquet Monday night at which time new officers were installed. The banquet was held at the Frances Hotel.

Although this is its first year, the organization has undertaken and successfully completed many worthwhile projects.

The degree of supervisor was Gwen Williamson, Pud Huckaby, Louise Doernberg, Linda Hornbeak, Lois Stephens, Nancy Sue Smith and Mary Louise Danna.

The highlight of the evening was a very impressive ceremony as Eleanor Eikel, outgoing president, installed the new officers. They are: president, Pat Reitzell; vice-president, Pud Huckaby; secretary Sister Barringer; treasurer, Pat Ruple; reporter, Ginger Blanks; historian, Ashley Hamilton; and sergeant-at-arms, Linda Hornbeak.

A swing band composed of several Neville musicians furnished music for the occasion. Attractive favors were given the 100 people present.

Miss Harriet Boyle is sponsor of the group, while Mr. Sam Smith of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Co. and Mr. W. T. Davis of the Ouachita Cigar and Tobacco company are the business advisers.

Government Hikes Rates On Insured Home Loans

WASHINGTON, Mah 2 (AP)—The government today upped the interest rates on most government-guaranteed and insured home loans to 4½ per cent.

For World War II and Korean War veterans who have not yet used their GI home loan benefits, this means a jump of ½ per cent in the interest rate they will have to pay.

For families who plan to finance their home purchases with the aid of loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration the increase is only ¼ per cent—from the present 4¼ per cent rate. FHA loans also carry a charge of ½ per cent as a mortgage insurance premium. Thus the total carrying charge will be 5 per cent.

The increases do not apply to mortgages already in effect. They permit the lenders to charge the higher interest rates on new loans. The FHA increase is effective immediately. The VA raise takes effect Wednesday.

Officials said the move was needed to increase the supply of mortgage money. Many lenders were reported reluctant to lend at the old rates.

The move also appeared to be in line with the new administration's anti-inflation, or "hard money," policy.

A veteran who gets a typical $9,000, 20-year home loan will now have to pay $2.43 more each month in carrying charges.

A family which obtains a 20-year $10,000 FHA loan must now pay $1.30 a month more than it would need at the 4¼ per cent rate.

A spokesman for the National Association of Home Builders said: "We believe, and certainly hope, that the change will bring out more credit for veterans and other prospective home buyers."

In Chicago, Charles L. Clements, president of the United States Savings and Loan League, called the increase "a courageous step" which he said would "automatically" place thousands of veterans in the "effective home buying market."

He predicted the rise in the GI interest rate would "revitalize" the housing industry and bolster the entire economy. As a result "1953 may well turn out to be the second biggest residential home building year in history," he said.

Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray Jr., said "The action was taken reluctantly and only as a last resort."

"General increases in interest rates," Gray said, "have resulted in a drying-up of the supply of 4 per cent money, making it increasingly difficult for veterans to secure homes on that basis."

First American troops to land in Cuba during the Spanish-American war were U. S. Marines, who established a beachhead a Guantanamo Bay, in June, 1898.

The Lions Code of Ethics

1. To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

2. To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self-respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part

3. To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

4. Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

5. To hold friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

6. Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give them my unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

7. To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

8. To be careful with my criticisms and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.

Lion Activities

The Lions are known and esteemed throughout the world because of the number and importance of their activities. Each year sees their constructive activities reach a new high in number and scope — a result of the care with which the individual Lions Clubs are organized, membership selected, and activities planned and carried out.

Lions Clubs are the only clubs with a complete community activities program. They are interested in every opportunity for unselfish service to the community, and to this end, their activities are grouped under ten headings:

Agriculture, Boys and Girls, Citizenship and Patriotism, Civic Improvements, Community Betterment, Education, Health and Welfare, Safety, Sight Conservation and Blind, United Nations.

The Lions Club therefore presents an unrivalled medium through which every civic minded, public spirited individual may serve in the particular field in which he is most interested.

COMMUNITY INTEREST

The greatest field of Lion's endeavor is in connection with Community Betterment, Health and Welfare, and Boys and Girls. In no less than 56,807 instances, Lions Clubs last year carried out projects making their communities more attractive, more active commercially, better known and better places in which to live. Typical of Lions Club activities in behalf of the community and its citizens are (to cite only a few of thousands):

CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS

Promotion of better roads, airports and transportation facilities; City Beautiful, gardening and remodeling contests; clean-up, paint-up campaigns; school modernization; educational improvements; students' contests; children's safety; installation of playgrounds, recreational centers and community buildings; encouragement of school and municipal bands, dramatic classes, art contests and other cultural activities; obtaining new industries and commercial establishments for the town.

WELFARE

In the welfare field, Lions Clubs have been instrumental in building and-or equipping many hospitals, wards and clinics; securing iron lungs, x-ray equipment, eye - examination apparatus, etc.; locating physicians in towns and areas needing them; improving public health departments; furnishing aid for needy persons, orphans, the aged, ill and blind.

AGRICULTURE

Lions Clubs in agricultural communities cooperate intensely with the farm population to obtain maximum agricultural development, more efficient marketing facilities and better living conditions. They annually sponsor many County Fairs; harvest festivals; horse, livestock, poultry and home gardening shows; home canning campaigns and food conservation, and also work closely with County Agents, 4-H Clubs, Granges and other farm bodies.

HUMANITY CAUSES

Furthermore, Lions have always assisted notably in all humanitarian causes such as relief of stricken communities or areas, as well as in support of such organizations as the Red Cross, March-of-Dimes, Boy Scouts Campfire Girls and innumerable others. They have always cooperated fully in every Government undertaking of national interest.

DURING WARTIME

During World War II, Lions Clubs served tirelessly on the Home Front. They assisted the Armed Forces by every possible means and proved a powerful element in the United Nation's drive for Victory. Lions International has received numerous official citations from the United States and other governments, in recognition and appreciation of the work of Lions Clubs in their respective Countries.

WORKING FOR PEACE

Since the war, the Lions have been especially prominent in the promotion of international friendship and cooperation, with a view to achieving lasting world peace as the only possible foundation for a happier future.

WITH UNITED NATIONS

Lions International is working closely with the United Nations. It participated in the San Francisco Conference in 1945 in a consultative capacity to the U. S. Delegation; it had representatives at the Paris Peace Conference in 1946, and at numerous subsequent United Nations meetings in Lake Success and Flushing, N. Y., and in Paris in 1948. Lions International also occupies a consultative status in the Economic and Social Council of the U. N.

Growth And History Of Lions Clubs

The International Association of Lions Clubs was formally founded in 1917. A preliminary meeting was held in Chicago on June 9-10 of that year and the organization officially came into being at the first annual convention which was held in Dallas, Tex., October 8-10, 1917, with about 25 clubs participating.

Lions International was organized with the idea of uniting on a basis of unselfish community service, business men's clubs in the United States that had no other affiliations. This was a distinct departure from the practice of forming business men's organizations primarily for business purposes.

By 1920, the Association had more than doubled its membership and had extended into Canada. By 1927 it had extended into Mexico and China, thus becoming truly international, and the number of clubs had increased to 1,810 with a membership of 61,000.

The expansion and consolidation of Lionism have continued steadily ever since. For the last 10 years, new Lions Clubs have been formed at the rate of one or more a day. The increase during the last fiscal year was 909 clubs. There are now 9,662 Lions Clubs in 37 countries on five continents —Australia, Belgium, Bermuda, Bolivia, Brazil, British Honduras, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Ecuador, England, El Salvador, Finland, France, Germany, Guatemala, Honduras, Iceland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, Netherlands Antilles, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Sweden, Switzerland, the United States (including Alaska, Guam, Hawaii and Puerto Rico), Uruguay and Venezuela — with a total membership of 449,029 of the business and professional men of these countries. The International Association of Lions Clubs is the largest — as well as the most active — service club organization in the world.

Lionism

Lions Clubs are non - political, non - sectarian service organizations composed of the community's leading business and professional men. Membership is by invitation only.

The purpose of a Lions Club is more than good fellowship and club social life, important though these are. It is to recognize community needs and develop means of meeting them, either through its own effort or in cooperation with other agencies. During the fiscal year 1951-52, Lions Clubs successfully completed 138,585 separate activities.

Lionism is an active and efficient medium for united community effort and enterprise. It is also an outstanding medium for national and world service, exerting tremendous influence for national welfare, international amity and peace, and human progress socially, culturally, and economically. The importance of Lions' work in all these fields is widely recognized.

MANILA (AP) — A team of experts will be sent to the Philippines by a United Nations agency to increase the milk supply by processing soya beans.

Maurice Pate, executive director of the U. N. International Children's Emergency Fund says it is possible to extract odorless proteins and milk from soya beans. Pate says the Philippines per capita consumption of milk is two teaspoonsful a day.

Britishers Freed By Reds Denounce War As 'Stupid'

LYNEHAM, England, May 1 (AP)—prisoners of war returned home from Korea today.

Some denounced the Korean war as "stupid" and "useless." Trooper Arthur Surridge of the 8th Hussars said he believed Communist stories that the war was started by the United States "to make profit."

All told of Communist-conducted lectures on "current affairs."

"It wasn't propaganda," said rifleman J. N. McNally of the Royal Ulster Rifles. "They just gave us talks on what was going on."

Although classified by the Reds as "sick and wounded," most of the men looked bronzed, healthy and well-fed. Six of 22 were stretcher cases. One stretcher case said he broke his leg playing soccer.

Request To Stop Express Service In Cities Denied

BATON ROUGE, May 2 (AP) — Clayton Coleman, commission secretary, said today the Louisiana Public Service Commission had rejected a request to eliminate express service in 30 cities and towns north of Alexandria.

The petition was filed by the Missouri Pacific Railroad and the Railway Express Co. to cancel out a contract at existing rates.

The commission's unanimous decision ended four months of hearings.

In other actions the commission:

1. Granted the Louisville and Nashville Railroad permission to discontinue three trains between New Orleans and the Mississippi line by a 2-1 vote with Nat Knight of Gretna dissenting. Trains No. 7, 10 and 14, operating between New Orleans and Mobile were eliminated on the railroad's claim of heavy financial losses.

2. Granted the Texas and Pacific Railroad permission to eliminate the Killona station in St. Charles Parish.

3. Denied a Texas and New Orleans Railroad petition to drop its agency station at Des Allemands.

ENJOY TRAIN RIDE—The third grade of the Woodlawn school recently enjoyed a train trip to Calhoun and were met by a school bus for the return trip to Monroe. The school is located out on the Jonesboro road and is under the principalship of J. W. Walters. Teacher for the third grade is Mrs. J. R. Pierce. Mrs. E. O. Broomfield, one of the room mothers, assisted Mrs. Pierce in making the trip with the class.

List Schedule For Summer At College

A definite schedule has been completed for the special classes in Commerce which will be offered at Northeast State this summer, it was announced Saturday by W. L. Perkins, head of the Commerce Department. Some of the classes will begin as early as 6 a.m. and others will be held in the evening, he said.

Classes have been scheduled to accommodate full - time and - or part - time employes of Monroe, West Monroe or any surrounding area towns.

Students who work full - time will be limited to a maxiumum of six semester hours of credit for the nine - week summer session, which will begin June 8. Some students will want to schedule courses which require laboratory periods, Perkins stated. In order for these students to get courses requested, early evening classes have been scheduled. Classes in typewriting and accounting will meet from 6 to 7:40 p. m.

All class periods will be 50 minutes in length. Early classes are included so that students may register for two full courses or one full course with laboratory work and complete the last period class in time to get to work by 8 a.m. This will give young men and women who are interested in getting a degree, but who must work a while before entering college on a full - time basis, to start now on required courses, Perkins said.

Persons who have been graduated from college in some other field, but who want a working knowledge of accounting, typewriting, shorthand, office machines, salesmanship or other business courses, will find this an excellent opportunity to broaden their education as well as increase employment or advancement possibilities, he said.

Following is the schedule of commerce courses being offered at Northeast State this summer:

Office machines 120, Beginning Shorthand 55 and Income Tax accounting 107, from 6 to 6:50 a.m.

Beginning shorthand 55, Statistics 181 and Cost Accounting 102, from 6:50 to 7:40 a.m.

Business correspondence 83 and Typewriting 51, from 7:40 to 8:30 a.m.

Senior Play To Be Held Friday Night

Friday, May 15, is Senior Play Day at St. Matthew's. The performance will be staged in the school auditorium - gymnasiun at 8 p.m. "Life with Father," a 3-act comedy by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, is the selection for the 1953 class.

Amid the clutter typical of the Victorian period, the entire action of this comedy which portrays the family life of Clarence Day, will take place in the morning room of the Day House on Madison Avenue, New York City, in the late spring of 1880. Father Day, the hot-tempered, but not bad-tempered head of this family of perpetual sunshine and shadows, dominates the complete atmosphere, with the ready complementary assistance of his beloved wife and spouse, Vinnie Day, who is spirited indeed, but never a martyr. With Vinnie playing her part constantly in the feminine role, and Father Day, ever and always the purely masculine head of the domicile, there runs throughout the production solid basis for their numerous conflicts.

Sister Patricia, D. C. is director of the play.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Installment Buying Sets New Record

WASHINGTON, May 2 —UP— Consumer installment buying increased $422 million to a record of $19 billion during March.

The Federal Reserve Board said most of the increase represented a $313 million gain in auto sales credit. There was a $29 million increase in installment credit for other consumer goods, primarily television sets and major household appliances.

Installment loans for home repair and modernization rose by $6 million and there was a $74 million increase in personal loans.

Non-installment credit, which is mostly one-payment loans and charge accounts, climbed $7 million in March to a total of $6.4 billion.

Total consumer credit outstanding at the end of March was $25.6 billion.

68 Missing Marines May Be Prisoners

WASHINGTON, May 2—UP— The Marine Corps has announced that 68 Marines previously listed as missing in action in Korea now are believed to be prisoners of the Communists.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., Marine Commandant, has notified next of kin of the 68 that they may write letters to them and that the Chinese Reds "have indicated they would forward such mail."

"Because the authenticity of the reports cannot be established at this time," Shepherd said, "the telegrams informed the families of the missing men that the Marines in question must still be carried on the rolls as missing in action."

The Marine Corps said names of the men could not be made available before Monday.

Four animals are known as "gophers" in various parts of the United States: the chipmunk, pocket gopher, tortoise and ground squirrel.

Alumni Banquet For Neville Is Set May 19

The Neville High School alumni banquet will be held on Tuesday, May 19 Mrs. Wesley Shafto, president of the organization, announced Saturday morning. Plans are already underway and will be announced soon.

The banquet will be held on the roof of the Frances Hotel and will begin at 7 p.m. Frank Breece, Jr., will act as master of ceremonies.

One of the highlights of the program, Mrs. Shafto has announced, will be the presentation of six of the eight members of the class of 1903. The group will observe their 50th anniversary as members of the alumni association at this time.

A representative from each class will be selected to contact all members of the particular class in order that the number attending can be determined as quickly as possible. However, should anyone fail to be contacted, Mrs. Shafto said, he is requested to call Mrs. Hodge at Neville High School or, after school hours, at 3-2237.

Additional information concerning the plans for the banquet, which the president termed "one of the best programs we've ever had" will be annunced at a later date.

Leader Of Bank Bandits Dies Of Bullet Wounds

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 2—UP— Fred W. Bowerman, 60, leader of a gang that ran into a hail of police bullets in an abortive bank robbery attempt here April 22, died Saturday at City hospital.

Before he died Bowerman, on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list of the nation's "most wanted" criminals, admitted he and Frank Vito, 25, of Chicago, robbed a South Bend, Ind., bank of $53,000 last September.

Vito killed himself when police closed in on the Southwest Bank here. Another robber, William Scholl of Chicago, and Police Cpl. Robert Heitz also were wounded in the exchange of shots. They are recovering.

Also under arrest as a suspect in the holdup attempt is Glenn Chernick of Chicago, 22-year-old former Marquette University football player.

Neville Band's Spring Concert Set For May 7

Music will be in the air Thursday, May 7, at the Neville High School auditorium, when the annual spring concert will be presented by the Neville High School Concert Band, under the baton of John W. Davis, director.

Several of the renditions will be by such famous composers, as Gershwin, Rossini, and Tschaikowsky.

This group rated "superior" at the State Music Festival held at Louisiana Tech on March 27 and 28.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m.

There will be one solo, featuring Wilmer Lawson on the baritone horn. An ensemble of brass or woodwinds will also perform.

Neville's band features one of the finest arrangements of Stardust, according to experts, that has been heard since it was written by Hoagy Carmichael.

Mr. Davis has announced that the three concert numbers that the concert band played and won its superior rating on at Ruston will be repeated for the local audience. They are:

Washington Grays March, by Grafulla; Stratosphere, by Frangkizer; Finale, from Symphony in F Minor No. 4, by Tschaikowsky.

The program will be varied and interesting for all different tastes.

Europe Worried Over Barriers To Trade With U. S.

Europe began producing steel Thursday under its new community plan creating a free trade area. At the same time European officials were reported doubtful the United States would adopt anything like similar principles, which she urged so strongly upon them, in her own trade practices.

Reports from Geneva following the big economic conference just held there said officials were about to abandon hope that the U. S. would eliminate trade barriers in any important way to implement the "trade not aid" idea put forward by Great Britain with an eye to bridging the dollar gap.

At the same time, Russia had made a strong impression with her efforts to arrange a resumption of East-West Trade on the continent in spite of American and American-inspired embargoes.

Russia now seems inclined to back down from her customary demands for strategic materials in return for her exports, and to be more willing to take what other countries are willing to sell.

That is close kin to what Europe is asking the United States to do. The United States has made no decision. Just why there should be more pessimism about it in Europe right now is unclear. It seems fairly sure that the Reciprocal Trade Act will be continued, permitting executive adjustments where called for during the year which President Eisenhower expects to take for a survey of the whole situation.

Removal of tariffs and quotas is a very serious business for certain American industries. The approach of the revisionists in this country, toward whom the administration appears to be leaning, is that some sacrifices may indeed have to be made on the basis of what is best for the general welfare.

Eisenhower could hardly expect to be hailed as a good steward if anything were done without the very greatest care.

It is only natural for Europe, behind the financial eight ball almost all the time since the first world war, to be impatient. But for years, now, the health of the American economy has been just as vital to these countries as their own. And their proposed solution is, after all, a theory only, though one which has been gaining support ever since the U. S. became the world's great creditor.

PRALINES

Mrs. C. McCoy, Jr.
308 Anderson
West Monroe, La.

3 cups white sugar
¾ cup Pet milk
¼ cup water
3 tablespoons butter
[illegible] teaspoon vanilla
3 cups pecans

About 30 minutes before you are ready to start your candy take one of your three cups of sugar and put into a very heavy skillet and allow the sugar to melt very slowly. If you try to rush the melting of your sugar it will burn and make the candy bitter.

Take the remaining sugar (2 cups), milk, water, and butter, place in a large heavy pan and cook until it forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water. When the sugar in the skillet has melted and the other mixture has reached the soft ball stage, bring the mixture to a good rolling boil und then add the melted sugar stirring rapidly. Do not add the melted sugar too fast. After all of the melted sugar has been added, let the mixture cook until the bubbles burst and the candy pulls away from the sides of the pan.

This will not take too long. Remove from the fire and allow to cool for a few minutes, add vanilla. Beat mixture until it begins to get creamy then add pecans. Continue to beat candy until it will hold its shape when dropped from the spoon onto waxed paper.

CHICKEN GUMBO

Mrs. Ida Lee Partman
P. O. Box 277
Columbia, La.

This recipe, if followed as given, will provide the main dish for dinner. Chicken gumbo may be made by using left-overs, or the remainder after making chicken salad or boned chicken.

1 fowl (3 to 4 pounds)
½ cup salty pork fat
1 onion
1 quart okra, fresh or canned
5 tomatoes
1 cup cream
2 sprigs parsley
2 cups boiling water
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup boiled rice

This is a noted southern soup. Cut the chicken into convenient pieces and saute until brown in salt pork fat, then place all the pieces in a saucepan. Cut a large onion into thin slices and saute slowly for ten minutes in the fat. Add okra. cut fine, sliced tomatoes, and parsley sprigs. Saute all of these ingredients one - half hour, quite slowly, and place them in the saucepan with the chicken. Add boiling water, pepper and salt.

Simmer slowly two to four hours, or until chicken is very tender, and then add boiled rice and cream. If more seasoning is needed, add it, and if necessary, thin with boiling water. Boil up once and serve. Cayenne pepper (one-fourth teaspoon) may be used instead of white or black pepper, if desired. Separate the bones from the chicken. Serve with pieces of chicken in the plate with the soup.

The judges stated the group of recipes in News-Star—World was one of the best they had ever had the privilege of judging. It was difficult to make decisions. The recipes were judged on economy, correct proportions, clearness of directions, stated temperatures and length of time for baking. In some cases, seasoning were used that were not always available in the stores.

Recipes of today are designed to appeal to the young housewife as well as the experienced cook. Naturally young homemakers must have more explicit instructions. Some of the best recipes were ruled out because of carelessness in writing, such as omission of some ingredient; abbreviations that had double meaning; indefinite time and temperatures for baking.

The judges offer these suggestions for next year: those submitting recipes give exact temperature and time for baked products. Low and moderate are two indefinite as most stoves have temperatures in terms of degrees, only. Check to see if salt is given in recipes needing salt. Test the recipe before sending it in.

St. Francis Alumnae To Have Homecoming

By H. H. BRINSMADE

On May 12, designated as "hospital day" nation-wide, there will be in Monroe a rather unusual observance. It will comprise the first homecoming in its history for the St. Francis School of Nurses and its, alumnae will go all out to celebrate. It will also serve as a memorial for those who have gone forth from here between April 16, 1925 (the year the alumnae association was formed) and May 12, 1953.

All nurses who have graduated at this excellent and justly famed school are urged to drop their duties and return to St. Francis for this big homecoming. The initial event will comprise an informal tea May 12 at 3 p.m. at the sanitarium, where a pleasing social event is in prospect.

Following this event, all will proceed to that charming and down-to-the-minute in its appointments and elegance, Bayou DeSiard Country Club, where at 7:30 p.m., the most attractive and brilliant culminating event will take place around a well-loaded and beautifully decorated banquet table. A program of music, and here and there some reminiscent tales of days gone by, will be unfolded to the delight of all diners.

The entire setup of the homecoming promises to be so fraught with delightful and impressive memories that it bids fair to be repeated year after year. With the completion of the two million dollar new St. Francis hospital, the school will be re-established and it will prove all the more reason for the holding of an annual homecoming.

St. Francis Sanitarium opened in 1913, and its first class of nurses to be graduated from the nursing school that had been established was in 1916 and comprised four graduates who were Nettie Mullin, Sybil Renaud, Mother Henrietta and Bessie Russell Ansley. Miss Mullin and Miss Renaud are still active nurses here. Through the years, according to records maintained by the school, a total of 311 have been graduated.

With a spirit akin to that of Florence Nightingale, they have gone forth to contribute their fit toward alleviating physical distress and to cheer those who stand in vital need of professional and appreciative ministrations.

Organized as the St. Francis Alumnae in 1925, records still intact disclose the purposes of the new organization as follows: (1) The holding together of the graduates of the St. Francis Sanitarium Nursing School to work for the interest of St. Francis and its training school for nurses. (2) To advance the standing and best interests of trained nurses; to place the profession on the highest plain obtainable and to uphold our code of ethics (3) To promote social intercourse and good fellowship among graduates and to extend aid to those in trouble. These principles have been the guiding light through the years of the alumnae organization and will so continue.

While no homecoming to date has ever been held, each year officers of the alumni have been elected and they are this year as follows: Josephine Cascio, president; Grace Cooper, first vice-president; Lillian Carter, second vice-president; Sarah Scalla, secretary and Faye Hales, treasurer.

Of the ten charter members in 1925 all but one are alive today. That one is Katherine Felton, active and much beloved, who passed on November 6, 1928. The other members are listed as follows: Sybil Renaud, Katherine Kelly, Siste. Margaret, Sister Henrietta, Nettie Mullin, Mesdames O'Donnell, Monticello, Birken, Wise and Miss Railey.

Through the years, in prosperity and adversity, the nurses here have contributed a valuable service to the Twin Cities and to all north Louisiana. These conditions include such strenuous times as the flood of 1927, which followed the great flu epidemic in 1918 and other times less stringent, but were ever capable nurses, worth their weight in gold.

Every consecrated nurse endorses and practices the noble, self-sacrificing pledge of Florence Nightingale which states:

"I solemnly pledge before God and in the presence of this assembly (it is at commencement time) to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is injurious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my profession.

"With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

No testimonial to the accomplishments achieved by nurses at St. Francis is complete without a word of sincere commendation of the unselfish, expert professional services of the hospital staff. This through the years has comprised the leading physicians of the community. Members of the staff are chosen from highly recommended local physicians. The staff is subdivided into sections, each section governed by a chief of the section.

A number of the staff members were participants in World War One and some in World War Two. One member, Dr. Leonidas Faulk, was killed in action in the first of these wars. Two members died of influenza during the scourge of 1918, surrendering their lives in an unselfish cause. These, like the names and memories of all loyal St. Francis nurses, will be cherished by thousands in the years yet to come.

Churches

Christian Family Is Stressed This Week

The Protestant Churches of America have set aside May 3 to 10 to emphasize the importance of the Christian family. With the increased tempo of modern living we need to remember that the family is the basic agency in our society.

A variety of activities have been planned for this week at First Presbyterian Church to remind the families of their responsibilities and to provide opportunities for worship, study and play. Families are urged to sit together in church on these two Sundays. The minister, Rev. W. H. McFadden, will speak May 3 on the topic, "The Case for the Church" and on May 10 on "The Case for the Christian Home."

Devotional booklets for use by the families each day have been prepared and mailed to each family in the congregation. The theme of the devotional booklet is, "God Works Through Families." The devotionals for each day have been written by different families in the congregation.

On Wednesday night, May 6th, at 6:30 p.m. a special Family Night Pot Luck Dinner is planned. Following the dinner a filmstrip will be shown entitled, "Is Your Home Fun?" Discussion groups for parents will be held after the film. Mrs. I. T. Landhy will lead the parents of children, Mrs. C. K. Crandall will lead the parents of teen-agers and Rev. W. H. McFadden will speak to those with grown children and those who have no children. The children will be entertained in the basement during the discussions.

On Saturday, May 9, a church family picnic will be held at Camp Alabama, beginning at 1:30 p.m. The families of the church will enjoy softball, swimming, etc. Supper will be served at 5:30. Through these various activities the church hopes to strengthen and enrich family life.

Rev. Dean Ends Successful Year For Local Church

The Good Hope Baptists honored their pastor, Rev. H. B. Dean, with a party given at the Brotherhood meeting on Wednesday, as it marked the close of a year of successful labors at this growing church. The Brotherhood is headed by George Parker, president, who presided.

After a program discussing the activities of the Brotherhood during the past year, the music director, Eugene Smith, in behalf of the Brotherhood, presented the pastor with a gift certificate from a local clothing store.

The W. M. U. and the Rainbow Sunday School class in turn presented Mrs. Dean with silver vases and costume jewelry.

A large number was present to wish the pastor and his family God's speed in the coming year. Refreshments were served by the W. M. U. During the past year, there were sixty-five additions to the church. An all time high was reached Easter Sunday in Sunday School and Training Union with two-hundred ten in Sunday School and one-hundred sixty - eight in Training Union.

Church At College Welcomes Pastor

College Place Baptist Church, 301 Sherrouse Ave., is going all out today and expects large audiences at all services for the new pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg, who will officiate in his capacity as leader of this church for the first time. He will preach at the morning service at 10:50 a.m. and will take for the theme of his sermon, "Wonderful, Wonderful Jesus" and for the evangelistic night service, "Salvation by Grace."

From 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. today, there will be open house held when the new pastor, his wife, and children, Danny, T. Earl Jr., and Peggy will be introduced to the public. Members and friends of this church are cordially welcome to all services and especially to attend open house.

Here is what Chairman J. Dodd Brooks, of the board of deacons and acting church moderator, has to say about the new pastor:

It is indeed a privilege and pleasure to welcome people into our church. When it is our new pastor and his family that privilege becomes doubly a pleasure. Brother Ogg, as you come to live with and to minister unto us, we feel that the Lord's will is being done. The opportunity here is unlimited — the field is "white unto harvest" —the people are hungry for the Word and I believe united as never before.

As Christ has directed His work is done through man (unworthy though they be) under the leadership of the Holy Spirit. We realize though that man — even if he be unusually gifted is limited. Realizing this we know the wonderful people of College Place Baptist Church will support you in every good work. Especially through their prayer and their willingness to assume places of responsibility.

As we "press along the upward way" together may we all be lifted to "Higher Ground!"

Speaking for the Sunday School, Supt. L. L. Price stated:

The entire Sunday School takes this opportunity to welcome its pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg. We have a Sunday School that is qualified and equipped to serve our entire membership. The coming of Brother Ogg as pastor completes our general officers.

Brother Ogg, we feel that the Lord led us to call you and you to accept our call. We pledge to give you our full cooperation and support in the Lord's ministry in this community.

Director Mack Cheely, of the Training Union expresses thus:

The Training Union is indeed grateful to use this means to express its heartfelt rejoicement and extend to Brother Ogg and his family a cordial welcome to our church. We are conscious of your great sacrifice in answering the call of our Lord but pray his richest blessing upon you as you come to lead us in a program that will lead us to new heights in the history of our church. We have asked and the Lord has answered, thus our task has been set. We must each one pledge our whole - hearted support and assume the responsibility where with we have chosen, and as the Apostle Paul has said in Hebrews 12:1 "Let us run with patience the race that is set before us."

Southern Baptists Flock To Houston

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Christianity began with devout Jewish souls expecting a Messiah and earnest disciples believing that they had found the Messiah. The atmosphere and environment of the land was already holy with the glory of Israel. Thus as Christianity spread throughout the Roman world, it soon came into conflict with the rites, literature and great, imposing shrines and temples of paganism.

Nowhere is that conflict so marked nor so vividly depicted as in the story told in Acts 19:23-41 of Saint Paul's preaching in Asia Minor and of the opposition he encountered in Ephesus through the commotion stirred up by worshippers of the Goddess Diana.

The story has an interesting modern aspect also. For among the worshippers of the goddess were the silversmiths who made silver shrines for her and who, like some today, were more interested in the material profits of religion than in any sincerity of worship.

When they saw Paul's mission succeeding, the silversmiths said among themselves, "Our craft is in danger." But seeking to conceal their self - interest from the people, they cried, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians."

This, too, has its counterpart in modern times when some use the cloak of religion to stir up prejudices or advance self-interest.

That story in Acts 19 is instructive and it ought to be read again and again, not only for its account of Christianity in conflict with paganism, but for its warning against those who would take the noble things of religion and patriotism and pervert them to their own ends.

Ephesus was the capital city of the Roman province of Asia. It was at the mouth of a river, three miles from the open sea. It was on the main road from Rome to the East, a flourishing route of trade and civilization. Corinth was the next great station on the road to Rome, so that Ephesus was a notable center of Paul's missionary work in a large area.

But it was here in the city that the conflict centered. Here was established a distinctive power of paganism and here Paul had lived for over two years (Acts 19:10).

The temple of Artemis, or Diana, was of enormous size. It was also used as a great treasure house and worship at its festivals brought great throngs from all over the province of Asia. It was easy, therefore, to stir up a riot by rousing the people with a warning of danger to their religion.

But in the narrative there is one notable figure apart from Paul and his companions who were attacked. That's the figure of the town clerk who kept his head and calmed the rioters. Would that there were more such calm-minded public leaders in every time and place!

Bible Words to Live by

My favorite Bible verse is I John 3:14. "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." Here is the test of our salvation. It is a test of a lifetime. It is also a daily test. It is a test that one can set up as a motto at the beginning of his Christian experience. It is the test by which he may judge his salvation as he comes down to the evening of life.

Love is the essence of Christian experience. Love casteth out fear. Love never faileth. "But now abideth faith, hope, and love, these three; and the greatest of these is love."

If one is in doubt about his salvation he can test it by this text. If he does not love the brethren he can be sure of his need of redemption.

The love defined here transcends geographical boundaries, race, caste, social strata. It has no barriers.

Labor Unions Unhappy Over Washington Trend Since Ike Took Office

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Labor unions are grumbling more and more over activities of the Eisenhower administration and the CIO is particularly unhappy at being denied a voice in running the Labor Department.

When President Eisenhower named an AFL union leader and Democrat, Martin P. Durkin, to be secretary of labor, Durkin invited the CIO to select one of his assistants.

The CIO recommended John Edelman, Washington representative of the CIO Textile Workers Union and a familiar figure on Capitol Hill.

That was more than two months ago, and ever since, the White House evidently has been trying to avoid nominating Edelman. First it was suggested the CIO name somebody else, but lately the whole idea of having any CIO representation in the new administration is reportedly being questioned in GOP councils.

This, coupled with other things, is reported to have the CIO on the verge of blowing its top with a loud blast against the whole administration.

Both the AFL and CIO, which supported the Democrats in last fall's election, are worrying publicly before congressional committees and in union publications about the way things are going.

They have been critical of the higher interest rates allowed by the Treasury on a new government bond issue, saying it will tend to dry up consumer credit and purchasing power.

They have deplored action by the House of Representatives in cutting off funds for the public housing program.

They are worried that if peace comes in Korea, the administration won't embark on public works spending and other measures sufficient to maintain present employment levels.

Former Official

more about alleged Communist connections and what influence he wielded in U. S. postwar policy in the Orient, then recommended that a grand jury decide whether he had committed perjury.

Lattimore, who declined comment on Judge Youngdahl's ruling, has denied all the charges against him. "Pure moonshine," he said of a statement by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that he was the top Soviet spy in the U. S.

Judge Youngdahl, a Republican former governor of Minnesota, said the indictment's first and basic count, that Lattimore lied when he denied having Communist sympathies, "must fall because it is violative of both the First and the Sixth Amendments."

These guarantee freedom of speech and belief and the right of a citizen to be fully informed about the accusations against him, among other things.

The first charge is nebulous and "fatally defective," the judge said. He declared a jury trying to decide an issue about sympathies and beliefs could reach its verdict only by "conjecture."

"Communism's fallacy and viciousness can be demonstrated without striking down the protection of the first amendment of discourse, discussion and debate," the judge said.

"When public excitement runs high as to alien ideologies, it is the time when we must be particularly alert not to impair the ancient landmarks set up in the Bill of Rights."

The judge said the Supreme Court has recognized Congress' broad powers to investigate and sometimes take hearsay evidence. But in a perjury case, he said, "The element of materiality must be present or the charges fall."

Judge Youngdahl rejected 10 defense motions to kill the indictment or postpone the trial and move it out of Washington.

The judge said he found no indication or proof that Lattimore could not have as fair and impartial a trial in Washington as anywhere else.

WM Aldermen

cepted the decision of the court of appeals, the three men stated they had accepted the appointments in good faith "since that (appointment by the governor) is the way aldermen vacancies had been filled in the past."

The second court of Appeals in Shreveport Tuesday afternoon upheld a district court devision ruling that three of the five West Monroe aldermen held the positions illegally. This leaves only two elected members, R. C. Jolissaint and John P. McKee, in the council. The supreme court earlier upheld a similar decision against the mayor, J. Allen Norris, and city judge, Howell Heard.

None of the three men would commit himself as to whether he would be a candidate in the election. When questioned about this, Mahaffey and Smith agreed with Hislop there "are so many things that are now unsettled, that a person cannot definitely commit himself at present."

The statement, issued jointly by the three, read in full:

"We have accepted the ruling of the Second Court of Appeals on the cases which we appealed from the Fourth District Court.

"The appointments to the board of aldermen were accepted in good faith by us in order to serve the citizens of West Monroe. We accept the appointments since that is the way aldermen vacancies had been filled in the past.

"We have no intention of contesting the decision of the Court of Appeals and will abide by the ruling which it handed down.

"This stand is being taken, for what we believe, to be in the best interest of West Monroe and sincerely hope that an election can be held as soon as possible."

Violence Flares At Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2 (AP)—About 20 convicts at Alcatraz Island Federal Prison have been placed in a special security block of cells as a result of sporadic violence this week.

Warden Edwin B. Swope said no one was injured.

Toilets and wash bowls were broken, and some sheets, blankets and mattresses were tossed out of the cells.

The warden blamed a flareup of race prejudice after new groups of convicts had been received from Atlanta and Leavenworth Federal Prisons.

Most of the trouble on the rocky island on San Francisco Bay occurred Wednesday night.

Jes' Ramblin'

stubble of beard, his clothes appearing as if they had been slept in for many nights, boarded the vehicle. He smiled genially at the bus operator but failed to pay his nickel fare. Then he fairly fell into a front seat and let forth a loud, pleased gusto as if all were well with the world. On the next seat to him was a retired DeSiard street merchant well known to all Monroyans.

The passenger stole a sly glance at this man and shouted out: "I like the way you look! How about loaning me a quarter!" The man addressed reached into his pocket and produced the amount which he gave the other man. The recipient then proceeded to pay his dime car fare.

Returning to his seat he shouted "I just do like the way you look. If I didn't like you, I'd not have taken that money. I am always very particular!" A block or two further out he pulled the bell cord and with a loud adieu, left the bus.

Then the man who had bestowed the quarter turned to his seat mate. "You know, I feel quite complimented! He liked the way I look. That's why he got the quarter from me, and it has made me feel so good. I wouldn't have missed that little donation, not even for a five dollar bill as reward. Such little things make one all warm and happy inside!" he explained.

The passengers were highly amused for the donor had generally been rated as one who inclined to keep his money for himself, but here he seemed to break his life long policy.

College Place Baptists will extend a warm Monroe welcome to their new pastor, Rev. Earl Ogg, and his family when an open house is conducted this afternoon.

He comes to Monroe with the highest of references and the church here feels quite fortunate to obtain a man of his high calibre.

There is still time to buy that civic music ticket, but one should not wait too long. Last year was the best that has ever been experienced by Twin City Concerts, Inc., both as to membership and the high grade talent that was secured.

But next year it is hoped to exceed the past record. The coming year, Stevens, Metropolitan Opera Company star, will probably be on the program. Another probable number is Gershwin Concert orchestra of 25 talented members.

Twin City Concerts has headquarters in the Hotel Virginia lobby and when the quota is filled, no more tickets are to be sold, so it is wise to secure that ticket at the very earliest.

The K. D. Hayes exhibition of paintings will be on display at the Art Shop on Louisville Avenue this afternoon and the public is urged to attend.

This display is from the brush of a well known man whose death some weeks ago is sincerely mourned.

The municipal pool at Forsythe park opens May 11 and it promises to draw a bigger crowd than ever.

For the past few days it has undergone a cleanup, states Commissioner Huckaby, and will be in perfect condition for the opening date.

Big-Shot Gambler Sentenced To Jail For Three Months

BALLSTON SPA, N. Y., May 2 (AP)—Russian-born Meyer Lansky, bigshot gambler and pal of underworld kingpins Frank Costello and Lucky Luciano, was sentenced today to three months in Saratoga County Jail.

Justice Leo J. Hagerty of State Supreme Court also levied a $2,500 fine against the dapper New York City operator, who pleaded guilty last Feb. 18 to five counts of gambling and conspiracy in connection with operations at Arrowhead Inn, former Saratoga Springs nightspot.

Lansky, 50, could have received a maximum sentence of five years.

He was indicted by an extraordinary grand jury that has been investigating Saratoga gambling and political payoffs for two years.

CONTEST WINNERS—Chosen first place in the girl and boy's divisions of a declamation contest recently held at St. Matthews were Joyce Hilton and Vincent Marsala, Jr. A freshman, Miss Hilton took the top place with a recitation of "Afraid of the Dark," while Marsala, senior student, was first for his "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death" recitation.

Annual 'Redskins' Will Be Presented Friday

Northeast State will present "Redskins," annual variety show, Friday at 8 p. m. Brown auditorium on the campus. The Student Council is sponsoring the performance, with Miss Alice Montgomery as director and Bill Harrington as business manager.

This year's edition of the student revue will be an extravaganza of music, dance, skits and song. Art, humor, beauty and cleverness are all combined to present an evening of sheer entertainment that will live up to the significance of the term, variety.

Joe Milner, always in demand for student performances, will fill the role of master of ceremonies, while Bobby Jackson will don his clown's regalia as he gets into the character of "Bo-Bo."

About fifteen organizations are participating in the show. The result means a generous contribution of talent and originality, Miss Montgomery said. In addition to Northeast State students the production will also feature several guest artists.

Several specialties which bid high toward giving "Redskins" professional touches include a rhumba and song number, "South of the Border," by Northeast students, Manuel Peraza of Venezuela and Diogenes Echeverria of Honduras.

Miss Shirley Free, who resided for a while in Hawaii, will give an interpretation of the hula hula dance. Miss Frances Hooper and Miss Louise Hollis are showing up well in rehearsals of their song and dance number, "Side by Side," the director said.

Miss Boyce Ann Albritton will sing "Little Brown Gal," in answer to student request. Other featured vocalists include: Misses Betty Spurlock, Jackie Jones, Flora Dell Jones, and Dell Moore and Jennings Wilkins. Miss Spurlock and Mr. Wilkins were guest singers at the "Lauritz Melchior Show" which came to Monroe a short time ago.

Carrying a big responsibility of the revue's success will be the Commodores, orchestra directed by Roland Carter, college student.

Other musical attractions on the "Redskins" program which are gaining interest are numbers by the Ouachita Parish High School Band, guest artists for the performance.

Several numbers will be presented by Northeast students of the modern dance class.

Besides the musical and dance features, the show will offer original skits to give additional variety and humor for a well-rounded production.

Assisting the director are Miss Betty Jean Jones and Miss Freddie Eason, both speech majors.

All four Americans emphasized that they believed most of the British disliked the Communists as much as they did.

(In London a War Office spokesman declined to say how many of the prisoners, in the official view, had been influenced by Communist indoctrination. He added:

("The War Office policy regarding any dis-indoctrination considered necessary for any repatriated prisoners is to allow them to go to their homes as soon as they are fit in the hope that home influence . . . will give them a more balanced view)".

King was hit in three places and could only crawl.

Demo Chairman Makes Appeal To Party Bolters

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 2 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell today asked former members of the party to return to the fold but warned that those who remain Republican in national politics can "hardly still claim to be Democrats in state affairs."

Mitchell, in an address prepared for delivery before North Carolina Young Democrats, obviously referred to defections from Democratic ranks which gave four Southern states to Eisenhower last year.

"The Democratic party stands ready to welcome back those few who strayed from the political faith of their fathers," he said. "But those who do not accept our invitation to return can hardly expect to continue to be Republicans in national affairs and still claim to be Democrats in state affairs.

"A man cannot have two faiths at the same time. And no man can in good conscience expect to reap the fruits of two political parties.

"But while we hold the church door open for these wanderers, they cannot expect to become deacons at once on passing through the door.

"They must show by their works that they are truly with us in spirit."

Local Artist's Works Will Be Presented Here

The memory of a local artist who overcame physical handicaps to record in oils scenes of his beloved southland, will live again this week in an exhibit of his paintings here.

Under sponsorship of the Northeast Louisiana League of Artists, the works of the late K. D. Hayes, Sr., will be displayed at the Art Shop on Louisville Ave. starting Sunday and continuing throughout the week.

Hours for Sunday viewing, which is open to the public, will be from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Hayes, whose hands were severely burned by an acid solution in an accident in his early youth, faced great odds in his ambition to become a painter. His fingers sustained permanent damage from the injury, and became knarled and difficult to direct.

In spite of this handicap he succeeded in making a living through use of his hands. His love of sports and outdoor life is reflected in his portrayal of cool bayou scenes in Louisiana, and the warmth and brilliance of his oils of New Mexico landscapes.

Hayes had a special talent for lending individuality and life to the objects which he portrayed, a blade of grass, a shaded leaf against a clear sky or a rock formation reflecting in the rippling waters of a brook.

He recorded many awe-inspiring Colorado mountain scenes during summer trips to that wonderland of nature.

U. S. Sending War Materials To Indo-China

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles announced today that the United States is feeding "critically needed military items"—reported to consist mainly of a small fleet of big cargo airplanes—to the anti-Communist defenders of the embattled kingdom of Laos.

In a statement Dulles denounced the new Red invasion in Indochina as "another case of ruthless and unprovoked attack."

He himself did not specify the nature of the military items being supplied. But it was learned that the rush aid consists mainly of two or three dozen big cargo planes suitable for speeding troops and supplies to the Laotian front. Most or all of these were understood to be of the C119 type, which can carry 64 paratroopers or a large cargo.

The aircraft are understood to be moving into Indochina from American bases in the Pacific area. Their number was not officially disclosed but French and American sources said it was less than 50.

Dulles reported encouraging news that the people of Laos were rallying to King Sisavang Vong and were co-operating with French Union forces to defend the royal capital of Luangprabang.

"Their efforts," he said, "are an integral part of the struggle of the entire free world against enslavement and are recognized as such here."

"We are maintaining close contact with the government of Laos and of France regarding the special requirements of the situation," Dulles said. "We have already taken steps to expedite the delivery of critically needed military items to the forces defending Laos."

Dulles previously had told congressional leaders that the Red invasion of Laos had created serious and disturbing new problems in the Far East. He and other government leaders have been trying to find some effective way in which the United States could help out.

Ivory-Billed Woodpecker Believed To Be Extinct

Long listed as America's rarest bird, he has disappeared in the last two years from the sight of man, or at least from the sight of scientists.

Reporting this, a spokesman for the National Audubon Society said today that the sanctuary established for what might have been the last living pair of the birds in Northwestern Florida has been given up. Rumors that some of them still dwell here or there in the South keep drifting in but such reports usually can be traced to the similar pileated woodpecker.

Who killed the ivory bill? Hunters probably were not directly to blame. Big as a crow and colored black, red and white, the ivory bill never was common. Indians hunted him for his red topknot and white men shot him too of course but what really got him down was the disappearance of his native Southern forests. Not smart, he knew only how to feed on insects in the trunks of trees dead for about two years. When the big trees went, so did the ivory bill.

His last strongholds have been in Florida, Louisiana and the Georgia and Carolina swamps. He was all but given up for gone five years ago but the appearance of a pair in Florida stirred waning hopes and led to establishment of the sanctuary.

This time, it may well be, he is gone for good.

Jane Steed Is Awarded LSU's Highest Honor

A Monroe student at Louisiana State University, Mary Jane Steed, was recognized this week for her outstanding achievement at the university at a Honors Day convocation on the campus. She was one of 10 women to receive the recognition and thus be initiated into the Mortar board, the highest honor available to undergraduate students.

Miss Steed is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Steed, 1815 North Fifth Street.

The special ceremonies were held Wednesday.

The mortar board was founded in 1918 with an expressed purpose of promoting "college loyalty to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college women."

Lana Turner, K. Douglas Head Big All-Star Cast

A fascinating and compelling story of Hollywood and of a man, driven by an overwhelming pride and ambition, who rides ruthlessly over friend and foe alike in his determination to become the outstanding figure in the world of movie - making is unfolded on the Paramount screen in MGM's "The Bad and the Beautiful."

Lana Turner, Kirk Douglas, Walter Pidgeon, Dick Powell, Barry Sullivan, Gloria Grahame and Gilbert Roland form the formidable array of stars who were gathered together for this drama - punching story of Jonathan Shields, who started on a shoestring, built up his studio to be the greatest in Hollywood and who in the process molded and twisted the lives of the woman who loved him, his best friend and a complete stranger.

Lana Turner plays Georgia Lorrison, daughter of a once - famous movie star and a girl who through self pity has become a tramp and an alcoholic. Barry Sullivan is Fred Amiel, the aspiring young director who throws in his lot with Jonathan Shields (Kirk Douglas). Dick Powell enacts James Bartlow, the college professor who has written a hit novel. Walter Pidgeon is Harry Pebbel, the businessman whose sole criterion of Shields productions is whether they come out in the red or the black. They all worship Jonathan Shields in the beginning and they all hate him in the end. Georgia Lorrison becomes a famous motion picture actress at the cost of the heartbreaking discovery that she is only a puppet to the man she loves. Fred Amiel becomes an Academy Award-winning director but only because of a double - cross on the part of the man whom he thought was his best friend. James Bartlow becomes a Pulitzer Prize - winner, but in gaining his success through Shield's he loses the young wife whom he adored. And Harry Pebbel, the astute businessman, loses his private fortune in the crash which wipes out Shields' studio. But just when it appears that Jonathan Shields has played his last card, with no one to aid him, the formidably genius which enabled him to rise to the top again asserts itself and he comes up with another winning hand.

The glittering array of stellar personalities chosen by Director Vincente Minnelli and Producer John Houseman for the pivotal characters in "Th Bad and the Beautiful" acquit themselves with distinction. Lana Turner, in what is probably the most dramatically demanding role of her career, is superb as the girl who rises above degradation and disillusionment to become a top - ranking motion picture actress. Barry Sullivan offers a moving sincerity to the part of the struggling young director who is forced to stand on his own feet when the man whom he has befriended deserts him. Dick Powell does handsomely by the role of the writer who is persuaded by his vivacious young wife to lend his talents to Hollywood and who loses her as the result, with the wife played in a winning performance by Gloria Grahame. Walter Pidgeon is excellent as Harry Pebbel, who measures art by the dollar sign. Gilbert Roland makes the most of his role as a handsome movie idol. And as Jonathan Shields, the man who has made pawns of them all in his unrelenting rise toward fame, Kirk Douglas gives a performance that is magnetically convincing and powerful.

"The Bad and the Beautiful" is probably the most unusual story of Hollywood and its fabulous personalities ever to be brought to the screen. It spells entertainment through every fascinating reel.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

The cast of Little Theatre's fifth and final production of the season, the hilarious comedy "Out of the Frying Pan," hits the rehearsal stage again tonight after a three-night lapse while Little Theatre director Stocker Fontelieu helped with the Neville Senior play that crowds cheered on Thursday and Friday evenings.

The young thespians of the Neville senior class, richly deserved all of the applause and praise that came their way during the two nights of production for their presentation of Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen," timeless in it's approach to teen age problems.

The thirty members of the cast turned in first rate performances in what might have been a very difficult play to stage. They were lovable, belivable and tuneful from the opening scene at Weatherbee's Drug Store to the finale "OO-OO-OO, What You Do To Me." With numerous scene changes, the sets for "Seventeen," were more lavish and creative than any here - to - fore presented by a high school group.

Staged to the recorded music of Walter Kent and Kim Gannon from the RCA Victor original cast album of "Seventeen," the production was gay and colorful with a touch of pathos for the problems of young Willie "Silly Bill" Baxter and his touching first love for beautiful "Baby Talk" Lola Pratt. The most marvelous thing in the show was the young actors and actresses' almost professional synchornization of their facial movements and expressions to the melodious words and music fo the recorded scores.

Little Theatre orchids to A. E. Culpepper, Jr. who supervised the entire production and to Little Theatre director Stocker Fontelieu who directed it to musical comedy success, and to all the boys and girls who must have worked very hard to make it the excellent evening in show business that it was.

THE UP AND DOWNS. . .of one who is still getting acquainted with the English language. In Friday's column when we were recording our reaction to the resignation of Little Theatre director Stocker Fontelieu, we made the statement that he had so ingrated himself into the Little Theatre, as to become a symbol of it. Was our face red when someone informed us that we had practically insulted him since the word ingrate meant a selfish cad. Now, we didn't think so and that had not been our meaning at all and with that uneasy feeling of having fumbled a perfectly good word we tried to tell our selves maybe we meant ingratiated but that didn't satisfy. Before contacting Webster's unabridged, we reflected how awfully stubborn we were about fixed ideas. For instance, we have three good burners on the family stove and one that smokes up the pots and invariably we use 'ole smoky in preference to the good ones, knowing all the while it will only cause more work. Finally the agony was over and we got to Webster, and he says ingrate as a noun does mean a selfish, unsuccessful person; however, as a verb or adverb, it means to cover wholly. We like his definition of ingrated much better than our own. To us it meant enmeshed, to become a part of. . .As I say there are. . those ups and downs.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

There was a time when sporting anglers blamed commercial fishermen for all their woes, and the men who fish for a living had justifiable complaints against the sportsmen, but the new trend around here appears to be cooperation.

When the commercial crews hauled 35 tons of turtle, mostly huge loggerheads, out of Bayou DeSiard in the last few days, they certainly did the sportsmen a big favor. In addition, they have taken many gar along with cat, buffalo, and gaspergou.

J. G. McKeller, state investigator for the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission's game rangers, and his men have been supervising the taking of commercial fish from Bayou DeSiard since Ouachita Fish and Game Commission opened the waters for a brief period. The commercial activities were due to close today, but, McKeller said, the hauls, especially of turtle, have been so large in the past few days that it was decided to allow commercial operations to continue for one more week.

"We haven't made an estimate of the gar and other coarse fish taken," McKeller reported, 'but the 35 tons of turtle alone will do much to promote better game fishing. A lot more are going to be taken within the next week.

'The commercial operators now working in Bayou DeSiard are good fishermen, they are sticking to the rules, cooperating with us one hundred percent, and doing a job that will make for better fishing for the sportsmen."

The Monroe Sports, coming home tomorrow for a three-game stand with the Jackson Senators, are still in the first division but weak hitting and wild pitching recently will have to improve if they stay up there. Too many bases on balls have made Monroe pitching look slouchy in at least four games, but even if the hurlers had been splitting the plate there was no assurance they could have won those games since the hitting was far from strong.

Gene Robinson, after hitting successfully in the first six games and winning a 'player of the night" award on the sixth occasion when he hit three-for-four, scored twice and batted in a run, suddenly went into a slump. Ray Rogers, after hitting successfully in seven straight and being tagged as the league's leading hitter for the first week by the league's statistician, J. P. Friend, at Blytheville, Ark., went hitless in the next two. Adrian Burk, hitless in seven games, was benched on the Mississippi tour, but the club's hit totals showed no improvement. But the Sports can't win 'em all. We feel they'll snap back often enough to make a hot race.

Early in the spring there was a fire in a dormitory at Northeast Louisiana State College where some Indian athletes were housed. Ransome Cole, Alexandria, wanted to set up a fund to pay those athletes for their personal losses, and he made the initial contribution. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Byargeon, Oak Grove, also had the same idea, making a donation.

Northeast officials, appreciated the gestures, but requested that they be given time to see what they could work out to help the boys without need of such a fund.

Lewis C. Slater, Northeast president, informed us the past week that the college will take care of the boys.

"We are not going to let any of our boys suffer as a result of the fire," Slater said. "We think it is a mighty fine thing that we have friends like Mr. Cole at Alexandria and Mr. and Mrs. Byargeon at Oak Grove, but in this case the college will be able to take care of the boys. None are suffering as a result of the fire."

The cash contributions from the Alexandria and Oak Grove Redskin followers will be returned.

Legion Junior Baseball Meet Called Today

Final organization of the Fifth District American Legion Junior baseball program for the 1953 season is scheduled for this afternoon at a meeting called for 2 o'clock at the American Legion Home here.

Bob McNeely, district chairman of Legion Junior baseball, said 15 towns in northeast Louisiana have been invited to participate in the program.

Organization of the district's league and adoption of a schedule are on today's program, McNeely said.

Double Feature On Tuesday's Mat Card

The Tuesday night wrestling show at Kallio's Arena will feature another double - main event; with Barbara Baker seeking revenge from Ethel Brown, in the girls' match, after a two fall defeat last week; and George Curtis wrestling Don Martin, in the mens' feature.

Last week, Martin and Jack Curtis fought to a 75 minute time limit draw.

Both main events will be two falls to win, one hour and 15 minutes time limit.

ATLANTA, May 2 (AP)— The 1953 minor league baseball convention will be held in Atlanta Nov. 30 through Dec. 4, Earl Mann, president of the Southern Association Atlanta club, said today.

NEW RECORD — Darrow Hooper of Texas A & M heaves the shot put 55 feet, 4-1/8 inches to set the only new record at the 44th annual Drake Relays at Des Moines. Hooper beat the 19-year-old record of 55 feet, 1-1/2 inches held by Jack Torrance of LSU.

Sports Storm Senators For 9 To 4 Win

Monroe Batters Tag 16 Hits Off Jackson Hurlers

JACKSON, Miss., May 2 (Special)—In a complete reversal of the form showed last night when Monroe lacked clutch hitting and steady pitching, the Sports bounded back tonight with a 16-hit assault on Jackson pitching to punch out a 9 to 4 triumph that evened the current series with the Senators. Meanwhile, Marvin "Hoppy" Hatcher choked off the Solons with seven hits for his third win of the season.

A five-run uprising in the fifth inning, snapping a 3-3 tie, clinched the win for the Louisiana invaders.

Hatcher, a mighty weak hitter but effective pitcher last year, and Abe Gaines led the attack on Maurice Kelly and Ed Frank Garrett, Jackson hurlers, with three hits each. Jack Maroney solved Hatcher offerings for three hits.

The two clubs meet in the third game of their series here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock before moving to Monroe Monday for a three-game stand.

Billy Sharp walked, was forced by Skipper Charley Harrington, and Lou Stutts, Abe Gaines, and Gene Robinson followed with successive singles to drive home Harrington and Stutts to give the Sports a two-run bulge in the first inning.

The Senators knotted the count in the second when "Shuffle" Schaufele doubled home Anse Moore, who had walked, and Manager Duke Doolittle, who had singled. Jackson went ahead, 3-2, in the third frame when Dick Monkman, safe on Stutts' low throw to first, and came around on a sacrifice by Bobby Adams, a single by Jack Maroney, and Moore's outfield fly.

Monroe tied the score once more in the fourth as Don Goeken beat out an infield hit, romped all the way to third when Kelly threw wild on an attempted pick-off at first, and scored on a single by Hatcher.

The Sports jumped into an 8-3 lead with five runs in the fifth. Stutts was hit by a pitched ball. Gaines singled. Robinson sacrificed. Adrian Burk, getting his first hit in professional baseball in 23 times at bat, singled Stutts and Gaines across. Goeken flied out, but Hatcher singled. Billy Sharp walked, loading the bases, and Garrett relived Kelly.

Nelson Daehn singled to score Burk and Hatcher. Harrington singled Sharp across. Stutts, up for the second time in the inning, walked to load the bases again, but Gaines forced Harrington at third to end the run-parade.

Jackson picked up run No. 4 in the sixth as Maroney opened with a double and scored on a single by Schaufele.

Monroe wrapped up the scoring with one more run in the ninth as Hatcher led with his third single, moved to second on a Sharp sacrifice and scored when Daehn singled.

PITCHERS MOVE

Tom Wingard, a, lefthanded pitcher with the Augusta Rams of the Class A Sally League, has been assigned to the Monroe Sports and is due to join Manager Charley Harrington's crew in Jackson, Miss., Business Manager Paul Manasseh said last night.

At the same time, Manasseh said Russell Faulk, rookie pitcher from Franklin parish, has been optioned to Sandersville, Ga., of the Georgia State League. Faulk has shown promise as a righthander although he didn't appear in a league game for Monroe.

LSU's Merrins Winner Of Collegiate Tourney

By MERCER BAILEY

ATHENS, Ga., May 2 (AP)—Steady Eddie Merrins, the sawed - off shotmaker from Louisiana State University, sank a 15-inch putt off the last hole to win the 16th Southern Intercollegiate Golf Championship by one stroke today.

The 5-foot 6-inch junior from Meridian, Miss., had to keep fighting back to stay even with the 36-36—72 par course. He edged out North Texas State's Stan Mosel and Memphis State's Hillman Robbins. Robbins also tied for runner-up here last year.

Merrins, the National Intercollegiate runner-up for 1952, had a 72-70-72-72—286, two under par. Mosell had 70-72-74-71—287. Robbins had 71-77-70-69—287.

The Southeastern Conference championship is run off simultaneously with the Southern Intercollegiate so Merrins also grabbed the S. E. C. title, unseating defending champion Bobby Hill of Alabama. Hill finished ninth—sixth in S. E. C. play—with 73-73-74-73—293.

It was a four-way race at the finish with Robbins, Mosel, and L. S. U.'s Cecil Calhoun pressing Merrins, who had a two-stroke lead at the start of the final round.

Mosel roared back to take a two-stroke lead over Merrins after 15 holes. He went one over on 17 and 18, while Merrins picked up a birdie on No. 16. Calhoun shot rounds of 72 and 71 in today's 36-hole finals to finish fourth at 288. He was S. E. C. runner-up.

Gay Brewer of Kentucky, Southern Amateur champion, had 74-70 for 291 and a tie for fifth with Tom Morrow, another L. S. U. ace, and Mason Rudolph of Tennessee. Morrow had 72-74, Rudolph had 72-73.

Next came Joe Conrad of N. T. S. at 292; Hill 293; and Don January, N. T. S., and Dan Sikes of Florida, 294.

Merrins is the Mississippi state champion and holds the National Jaycee Junior and Western Junior titles. He was Southern Amateur runner-up two years ago to Arnold Blum, Macon, Ga.

Royal Vale Takes Gallant Fox Race To Return $24.40

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP) — Mrs. Ethel Dupont Weir's Royal Vale, an 11 to 1 outsider, won the $60,000 added Gallant Fox Handicap at Jamaica race track today as the even money favorite, Crafty Admiral, finished fourth.

A small Saturday crowd of 30,063 saw Royal Vale catch the pace setting Crafty Admiral at the half-mile pole, then open up a four length lead coming into the stretch.

This margin was sufficient to withstand the fast closing charge of C. V. Whitney's Cold Command, who surged up on the outside to beat Mrs. Walter Jefford's One Count for second place. At the finish the winner, ridden by Jackie Westrope, was a length and a half ahead.

Cold Command held a similar margin over One Count, who nosed out Crafty Admiral. Golden Gloves and Lafourche brought up the rest of the six horse field.

Time for the mile and three-sixteenths over a muddy track was a speedy 1:55 2-5, only one-fifth of a second off the track record.

Royal Vale, a five-year-old horse by Kingsway-Cora Deans, paid off at the juicy odds of $24.40, $9.20 and $3.90. Cold Command paid $5.10, and $2.90 and One Count $2.60 to show.

Tigers Drub Lions, 16-0, On Swanson's 1-Hitter

By TED HECKATHORN

The strong Neville High School baseball nine, with ace moundsman "Red" Swanson pitching one-hit ball, blanked the Ouachita Parish High Lions last night at Legion Memorial Stadium, by a 16-0 margin.

Swanson, who struck out ten and walked only two, was superb on the rubber, with only one Ouachita player getting as far as third base: that in the sixth when Walter Bennett walked and went to third on Ike McMullen's sharp single to center. Swanson, who had a no-hitter going until the single with two out, promptly fanned Larry Barnes to end the threat.

Second-sacker Wayne Causey not only was the Tigers' leading stickman, with two resounding doubles to right, and a total of three hits in four official trips, but came up with the fielding gem of the evening when he speared Tommy Wrenn's sizzling grass-cutter in the bottom of the fifth, and tossed the Ouachita outfielder out from a kneeling position.

Jackie Neal scored Neville's first tally in the third, when he walked, took second on a pass ball, third on a fielder's choice, and was driven home by Ray Rhymes' pop fly single that fell between Ed Estep and "Tyrone" Powell in short center.

That run was all the Tigers needed as matters turned out, but three more in the fourth, one in the fifth, and 11 in the seventh, when Lions starter Ken Brown was chased, were added for good measure. Brown was relieved in the big Neville seventh by Huey Jinks who gave up two free passes, two doubles, and a single before putting the fire out.

New York Yankee scout, Atley Donald, was a spectator at the game mainly to look over Swanson, Fred Frickie, Barnes and Brown. He couldn't have picked a better night to see Swanson in action, for the slender righthander's curves, breaking fast and sharp, had the Ouachita sluggers topping the ball or fanning all evening.

Mouthpieces May Become Standard Irish Equipment

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 2 (AP)—Mouthpieces similar to those used by boxers probably will be standard equipment for Notre Dame football players next fall.

Coach Frank Leahy of the Fighting Irish is contemplating ordering enough of the protective devices to be worn by every man on his squad.

He has to decide yet whether to make them standard equipment, in which case each player will be required to wear them.

"There are various types, some of which haven't panned out," he said today as he taped Notre Dame gridders for their annual old-timers game climaxing spring drills.

"Some players used them last year, but others didn't want to be bothered. Some types irritated their mouths and they took them out. We kept picking them up off the field.

"But we've found a pretty good type this spring (a two-piece outfit of soft rubber, fitting to the upper and lower rows of teeth) and the boys who wear them seem to like them. But we're still experimenting."

Paszkiet said he favored making the mouthpieces standard equipment and will recommend it to Leahy.

"They not only protect the teeth either from being knocked out or from cutting into the lips if a player is hit in the mouth — but they also reduce chances of more serious head injuries," Paszkiet explained. "They cushion the shock of being hit on the chin or jaw and lessen the chance of breaking a jaw bone or suffering a concussion."

Paskiet said that a national magazine piece last year purportedly showing pictures of Notre Dame players with missing teeth did not prompt the move to use mouthpieces.

"There wasn't a player all last season who had a tooth knocked out. In fact, I only know of two or three players who ever did have this happen at Notre Dame in games or practices. I made a survey after that magazine article, and I know.

Those who have missing teeth were that way when entered Notre Dame or got that way falling down steps or something."

Miss Suggs Now Heading Parade In Weathervane

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2 (AP) — Tiny Louise Suggs of Atlanta shot a 39-35—74 to lead the first round today of the third leg of the cross-country Weathervane Golf Tournament for the women professionals.

It was an even women's par effort and put Miss Suggs into the lead at the end of 90 holes with a total of 372. She replaced Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., who posted a 75 for a grand total of 373.

Women's par for the Presidio Country Club course is 37-37 and yardage for the course is 6,543, but it was cut considerably for the women players. The second and 18th holes were shortened from par five to par four.

Miss Berg started badly with a 40, but came back with a 36. She lost the overall lead, however, to sharpshooting Miss Suggs from Georgia.

Last year's cross country champion, Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., posted a 37-38—75 for the second best round today. It gave her a 90-hole total of 378 and third place in the standings behind Miss Suggs and Miss Berg.

Little Alice Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., had a 40-37—77 and scored an eagle three on the par five 459-yard 11th hole. She shipped in the ball from 60 yards out. It put her in tie for fourth place with Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., each with a total of 386 for the 90 holes played to date.

Betty Hicks, Long Beach, Calif., carded a 39-37—76; Shirley Spork of Ukiah, Calif., had a 38-39—77 and Helen Dettweiler of Palm Springs had 39-39—78 for their first rounds. They are professionals, but are not competing in the entire cross-country jaunt of 144 holes.

The second 18 of the San Francisco 36-hole lap will be played tomorrow.

Palehose Score 4 Runs In 9th; Down Yanks 8-7

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP) — Ferris Fain, American League batting champion the past two seasons, slammed one of his rare homers for three runs and a New York fielding farce produced a winning fourth run in a hectic ninth inning for an 8-7 Chicago White Sox victory over the first-place New York Yankees today.

The triumph, which moved the Sox into second place only a game behind the Yankees, was a pitching carnival which included five Chicago and four Yankee hurlers. Earl Harrist was the winner and Ray Scarborough the loser.

After Fain's dramatic ninth-inning three-run shot into the right field stands tied the score at 7-7, Scarborough came in and walked two batters. Sox center fielder Jim Rivera then slashed a grounder to Gil McDougald at third. It appeared to be a potential inning-ending double-play ball.

But after McDougald whipped the ball to Billy Martin at second for a force-out of Sam Mele, Martin's throw to first went wide. Yankee first sacker Joe Collins scrambled for the ball, knocking over umpire Bill Grieve in the process, and Minnie Minoso romped home from second base to win the game. An error was charged to Martin.

Is Proud Beats Task Fleet For Betsy Ross Cash

CAMDEN, N. J., May 2 (AP) — Taking the lead shortly after the break and holding on stubbornly Brookfield farm's Is Proud zoomed to a thrilling three quarter length triumph today at Garden State Park in the second running of the $20,000 added Betsy Ross Stakes.

McDermott and Welman's Task Fleet, who battled it out with the winner over the entire six furlongs of the fixture, was second, three quarters of a length in the van of Ridge stable's Slave Girl, a field performer.

Is Proud, expertly ridden by veteran Jockey Jimmy Stout, performed in the role of a second choice in the wagering, kicking back $7.60, $4.20 and $3.60 across the board after being timed in 1:12.

Fifteen three-year-old maids of the turf contested the issue in the Betsy Ross, and a crowd of 31,-275, largest of the budding meeting, saw the thrilling spectacle.

Stout hustled the ultimate winner away from the gate, and she got to the front early. Task Fleet, under Jockey Cris Rogers, was lapped on her most of the way, and the pair put on a head and head fight until the wire was reached. Slave Girl came from far back and was going fastest of all at the end. Mrs. W. Gilroy's Emardee, the favorite, showed little finishing twelfth in the field of fifteen.

Is Proud's victory was worth $17,550 to her owner.

MEXICO CITY, May 2—UP—Bantam Ben Hogan conquered shaky putting to shoot a four-under-par 63 Saturday and take over the lead of the $17,500 Pan American Open Golf Tournament.

Hogan, starting the third round three strokes behind Landy Dave Doublas, surged four strokes ahead of the Newark, Del., pro as he rapped out four birdies and never topped par in the sensational exhibition of accurate approaches.

Hogan put together a 33-35—68 in his first sub-par round of the "boycotted" tourney for a total of 212 strokes after 56 holes.

Douglas went three over par with a 38-37—75 to fall out of the lead he had held since the opening day.

Fred Haas Jr., of New Orleans, met Hogan's 68 to pull into a second-place tie with Douglas at 216.

Most of the other top-flight American golf campaigners had trouble with the fast greens, and a 69 by Bob Inman of Tulsa, was the only other below par round. Inman, with a total of 218 was tied with Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., in fourth place.

Wall, deadlocked for the lead with Douglas after start of the Day's round, fell off with a five over par 77.

The decision was unanimous.

Womber weighed 152½, Gavilan 151.

It was the first defeat for Gavilan since Oct. 30, 1950, when Gene (Silent) Hairston outpointed him at Scranton, Pa.

Since then the only mar on the 147-pound champion's record has been a draw with Johnny Bratton at Chicago, Nov. 28, 1951.

A crowd of 5,500 saw the over-the - weight bout in the War Memorial Auditorium.

Rayquick Retires Virginia's Famed Gold Cup Trophy

WARRENTON, Va., May 2 (AP)—Rayquick, galloping like a frenzied ghost, shoved into the front down the stretch today to win Virginia's famed Gold Cup Steeplechase and give his owner permanent possession of the glittering urn trophy that once belonged to Catherine the Great.

It was sweet victory for C. M. Greer Jr., the Middleburg racing enthusiast whose Goldun and Houseman captured Gold Cup chases in 1941 and 1946 respectively.

As three - time winner, Greer gets to keep the gold cup that was owned by the 18th - century Russian ruler.

A French import, Rayquick was making only his second start in a timber classic. But the handsome five-year - old bay gelding couldn't have done better as he surged past Edwin Gould's Ums on the 20th rail to romp past the finish flag 2½ lengths in front in this 28th running of the Gold Cup. The time was 7 minutes, 36 1-5 seconds.

Industrailist Samuel R. Ery's Magical finished seven lengths behind Ums. The favorite, James F. McHugh's Jordan, stopped, pooped out, after leading the seven other entries in the feature race for more than half the distance over the 24 chestnut fences. His jockey, Paddy Smithwick, finally pulled him up.

Besides Jordan, another disappointment was Black Fox Run, 13-year-old black gelding of Mrs. J. P. McCormick of Middleburg which won the Middleburg Hunt Cup two weeks ago. Today, Black Fox Run lagged home last.

Grover B Wins Plymouth Rock Run, Ellis 2nd

BOSTON, May 2 (AP) — T. P. Morgan's Grover B, A front runner all the way, won by four and a half lengths over J. M. Lingle's favored Larry Ellis in the $10,000 Plymouth Rock Handicap today at Suffolk Downs.

After Grover B covered the mile and a sixteenth of sloppy going in 1:47 4-5, the Red Head stable's Futuresque showed, a length back of Larry Ellis.

As usual, Larry Ellis got away slowly but he never was able to come within striking distance of the pace-making Grover B.

Grover B's supporters in the chilled and rained-on 20,654 crowd received $4.20, $3 and $2.60. Larry Ellis paid $2.60 and $2.20 and Futuresque $2.80.

John Paul Jones Battles Lerchen For Bat Laurels

DALLAS, May 2 (AP) — Consistent hitting and rain put George Lerchen, Tulsa outfielder, in front in the Texas League batting race the past week.

Lerchen actually had the best average the week before but had gone to the plate only 30 times, thus John Paul Jones, Shreveport's mauling first baseman, was rated No. 1 because he had batted 52 times and had an average of .442.

But rain halted Jones' rampage and Lerchen made hay, his average dropped from .464 to .421 but he had batted 57 times and gotten 24 hits while Jones had hit .412 in 68 times at the plate.

But Jones still leads in most departments. He tops in hits with 28, in doubles with eight and triples with three.

The man who has driven home the most runs, however, is Jim (Buzz) Clarkson, Dallas third baseman. He has clubbed in 18.

Eddie Knoblauch of Dallas and Bob Caffery and Bobby Balcena of San Antonio are tied for the lead in runs with 17 apiece. The home run leader is Edgar Bailey of Tulsa, who has parked the ball six times.

Hitting appeared to have been the major ingredient to league leadership. Shreveport tops in club batting with .277, Dallas is second with .267 and San Antonio third with .264. Those three clubs were setting the pace the past week.

Three pitchers have won three games and lost none—Wayne McLeland of Dallas, Harry Wilson of San Antonio and Meridith Murray of Tulsa.

Dark Star Captures Derby

Upsets Favored Native Dancer; Returns $51.80

LOUISVILLE, May 2 (AP) — Dark Star from the Cain Hoy stable pulled one of racing's greatest upsets today by winning the 79th Kentucky Derby in a slam bang finish that ended the unbeaten record of Native Dancer.

Jockey Henry Moreno put Dark Star on the front end soon after the colorful mile and one-quarter racing classic got under way. He held it to the end as Native Dancer closed with a steady drive in the stretch, only to be beaten by the margin of the winner's sleek brown head.

It was a tremendous victory for Dark Star and his owner, Harry F. Guggenheim of New York, former ambassador to Cuba, and a stunning reversal for the big grey Alfred Vanderbilt was depending upon for his first Derby victory.

Dark Star, a brown son of the Australian sire, Royal Gem II was one of the long shots in the field of 11 three-year-olds. A roar went up when they posted the price of $51.80 for each $2 in the upset victory. He paid $13.60 to place and $7 to show.

Native Dancer was five lengths ahead of the third horse, the Saxon stable's Invigorator, but that was no solace to the Dancer backers.

Native Dancer had won all nine of his races last year as a juvenile, and took both his starts this season, the Gotham Stakes and the Wood Memorial, the latter a week ago at Jamaica.

But he reached the crossroads this warm, sunny afternoon at ancient Churchill Downs and Vanderbilt's dreams of years went down the drain in the span of just a little over two minutes.

Dark Star won the Derby Trial here last Tuesday by four lengths in one minute, 36 seconds flat—close to the track record. Native Dancer wasn't in that race, but his reputation had shoved most of the other horses out of consideration for the Derby run.

Time for the winner, a son of the mare Isolde, was two minutes and two seconds. This compares with the Derby and track record of 2:01 2-5 for Whirlaway, winner of the race in 1941. Whirlaway died recently in France where he was in the stud.

Native Dancer, who went to the post the odds-on favorite at 3 to 5 with his stablemate, Social Outcast, returned $3.20 and $2.80. Invigorator paid $9.40 to show.

Dark Star had finished third to Native Dancer when the latter colt won the rich Futurity at Belmont Park last fall. But this time he had his number.

Correspondent, the California contender owned by Mrs. Gordon Guiberson of La Jolla and second choice in the mutuels at 3 to 1, ran second for the first mile, then tired under Eddie Arcaro and finished fifth.

Royal Bay Gem, the Texas colt owned by Eugene Constantin, Jr., Dallas, third choice at nearly 7 to 1, finished fourth, two lengths behind Invigorator.

Behind Correspondent came the Greentree stable's Straight Face in sixth place, followed by Social Outcast, the G. and G. stable's Money Broker, Bruce S. Campbell's Ram O'War, Edward M. Goeman's Curragh King, and T. M. Daniel's Ace Destroyer.

Gross value of the race was $118,100, with Dark Star's share $90,050. The record purse of $98,050 was banked by Count Turf in 1951.

Pirates Produce Power To Blast Redlegs, 12-4

PITTSBURGH, May 2 (AP)—Carlos Bernier, fleet-footed rookie centerfielder, crashed three triples and Ralph Kiner and Danny O'Connell belted two-run homers to power the Pittsburgh Pirates to an easy 12-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs today, extending the Bucs winning streak to four straight — longest in almost two years.

Bernier's three consecutive triples in the fourth, sixth and seventh tied a major league record established in 1939 and sent the Redlegs reeling to their seventh straight loss in 11 games.

The 24-year-old Puerto Rican, voted the Pacific Coast League's most outstanding player in 1952, also singled in the first, stole second and scampered home on Cal Abrams' single. With Hollywood last year he pilfered 65 bases.

Southpaw Paul LaPalme, 29-year-old knuckleball specialist, traveled the distance for the Pirates to gain his first victory of the season. Jim Greengrass, sophomore leftfielder, belted a homer in the fifth for one of the Redlegs 13 scattered hits.

Louisiana Tech Baseball Team Downs Demons

NATCHITOCHES, La., May 2 (AP)—Louisiana Tech's baseball team drubbed Northwest State College 7-1 today behind the three-hit pitching of Jerry Lovett to break a third-place deadlock in the Gulf States Conference.

Lovett won his own ball game in the second inning when he followed Farrington's single with a home run to give Tech a two-run lead which Northwestern State never was able to overcome.

The lone score for Northwestern came on a bases-empty home run by centerfielder Johnny Emmons in the seventh inning. Emmon's also collected on one of the other two hits given up by Lovett.

Redskins In Last Home Contest With Cowboys

After sacking up their sixth straight win of the season — against the Centenary Gents in Shreveport — the Northeast State Indians baseball team will play their last game at home here Tuesday when they clash with the McNeese State Cowboys of Lake Charles. Game time is 3 p. m.

In Shreveport Friday the Redskins came out on top in a rhubarb with the Gents by a score of 4-1. This gives the Indians a season's record of eight games won, three lost and one tied. Although not in the Gulf States Conference this spring, the Indians have been defeated by only one team in that loop. Northwestern took a tight, 2-1 victory early in the spring. Northeast is looking forward to conference competition next year in the Gulf States loop when the college becomes a bona-fide member.

Northeast State will close its baseball season on Wednesday when the Redskins tangle with the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs in Ruston. A number of Northeast fans are expected to make the trip to Ruston to see this game. In the contest played here recently the Bulldogs dropped a 17-3 decision to the Indians, but are expected to field a much stronger team this Wednesday. Since the beginning of the season the Tech team has shown great improvement and has won the majority of their games.

Billy Thompson, starting catcher, has been ill during the past week with bronchitis, Coach "Woody" Boyles stated, and has not yet recuperated enough to play ball. Thompson was hospitalized in Bastrop for a short while recently.

Northeast's only left-handed hurler, Douglas Hudson, will not be able to finish the season because of doctor's orders. Hudson was rapidly becoming one of the best hurlers on the team, and allowed only one run in the last nine innings he pitched.

For a while it was doubtful whether Clyde (Bobo) Thompson, Northeast's whip-arm third baseman, would play anymore this season. His finger was injured badly by a line drive in practice the first of the week, and was badly swollen. However, x-rays showed the finger wasn't broken, and Coach Boyles used him in the Centenary game Friday, swollen finger and all.

Dallas Shooting At Record Minor Loop Attendance

DALLAS, May 2—UP—The Dallas Eagles go after the minor league attendance record next Friday night when they stage the "world's greatest baseball party" in the Cotton Bowl with high hopes of filling the 75,000-capacity stadium fo ra game against Beaumont.

A bevy of movie stars, a Dixieland band contest and a stage revue will help lure the customers into the giant stadium in an effort to surpass the throng of 53,578 fans who saw the 1950 opening day game in the stadium.

Owner Dick Burnett already has announced that the all-star cast will include Robert Mitchum, Dale Robertson, Jerry Colona, Russell Hayden, Jackie Coogan and Eddie Bracken. Other big names are expected to be added to the list before Friday.

Four Dixieland bands will open an hour's contest at 6 p.m., with the stage show to follow at 7:15 p.m. and the Dallas-Beaumont game to wind up the proceedings.

Duke University, then Trinity, played its first baseball game in 1889 with the Winston-Salem Y. M. C. A. The game ended in a 10-10 tie.

Clowns Present Girl Infielder Here Next Week

American Legion Memorial Stadium will be the scene of a girl playing in a baseball game against men on May 12 when the Indianapolis Clowns and the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American League tangle.

The Clowns have in their lineup the first female baseball player in the history of the Negro American League.

She is Marcenia Lyle Stone, better known as "Toni," who is holding down the regular berth at second base this season in terrific style for the three-time NAL champions. She reportedly inked a contract calling for her first season's work.

Toni formerly played for three years with the New Orleans Creoles, a male club and prior to that with the San Francisco Sea Lions.

Born in St. Paul, Minn., the female infielder got her start at St. Paul Stadium during a boys' baseball school session conducted by the late "Gabby" Street, then manager of the American Association team of that city.

In addition to the fabulous woman, the Clowns will feature hard-hitting Julio Toledo at first base; the sharp fielding Rube Williams in the shortfield and Curtis Hardaway at third base.

Henry (Speed) Merchant lives up to his name in the outfield.

The Clowns, in addition to playing sensational baseball, afford the fans oodles of fun with their funny antics. Prior to the start of the game, a comedy-diamond show will be presented, featuring the inimitable King Tut, baseball's top clown. For the fans who like rhythm with their baseball, Boogie Woogie Paul, the "Spike Jones"-style one-man band will perform. To complete the entertainment, the Clowns will stage their famous "Shadowball" exhibition, which finds the players taking infield practice without the use of a baseball.

Dirt Track Auto Racers Show On Shreveport Oval

SHREVEPORT, La., May 2 (Special)—Probably the greatest dirt track auto race ever to be held in the south is shaping up for the Louisiana State Fair Grounds event here Sunday afternoon, according to Frank R. Winkley, veteran manager of speed events.

Five mighty Offenhausers, two of them brand new jobs built during the winter, one car that ran well at Indianapolis last year, and the best and fastest line-up of drivers ever to gather in one spot in the south, are reasons Winkley gives for his claims.

Add to that the fact that the Shreveport lay-out is fast becoming one of the better dirt tracks of the nation and the additional impetus racing has in this area of drawing thousands of interested fans who have been thrilled by top notch stock car racing at the State fair track, and you have more conclusions that are apt to influence the promoter and the public.

With Deb Snyder, holding of six world records and the 1952 I. M. C. A. national dirt track championship; Leon DeRock in a brand new car; [illegible] Folse in the world-famous Gus Schroeder Offenhauser; and Harry King of Detroit, in the action quite a melee is almost sure to take place.

The Schroeder Offie had been entered but the driver had not been announced until today. With Folse at the wheel favorites like King, DeRock and Snyder had better look to their laurels for the diminutive Tampan is a heavy-footed throttle treader.

Back this line-up with a bevy of the powerful 450 horsepower Rangers manned by such drivers as banked track champion, Bob Carpenter of Wabash, Ind.; Jim McWithy of Indianapolis, Marvin Pipher from Michigan, Johnny Doyle of San Antonio, then add for the third platoon tough customers like Clair Cotter of Austin, Minn., Win Herner, the kid from Chicago, Tommy Adelman of Minneapolis, and several others, and it appears to add up to the biggest speed fest seen in these parts.

The seven-event show begins with 1:30 p. m. time trials and warm-ups, and the 2:30 races.

Yellow Blossoms Used In Anniversary Decorations

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eugene Johnson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon, April 19, in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Caldwell, 812 Arkansas Road. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell in extending the courtesies were Dr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs Alfred Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Johnson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Victor P. Johnson.

Beautiful arrangements of yellow tulips, yellow gladioli and yellow roses lent their fragrance and beauty to the spacious reception suite, and were the gifts of friends.

Guests were greeted at the door of the entrance hall by Mrs. T. Earl Johnson and daughter, Sally, Mrs. Victor P. Johnson and daughter, Kay and Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Jr., and daughter, Judy.

On a table in the entrance hall, stood a huge golden bell fringed with golden blossoms, and the same blossoms were at other points of vantage in the hall.

Mrs. Johnson, looking much younger than her years, wore a beautiful blue crepe and lace dinner dress, accented with a bronze orchid, a gift from her Sunday school class, as she stood with her husband and five of their six children to receive the more than four hundred guests who called to pay their respect to this highly esteemed couple.

Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Jenkins, the two daughters present, wore attractive dinner gowns and shoulder corsages of perfect blend. Mrs. John R. Haley, the other daughter, and Major Haley were unable to be present for the occasion.

The beautiful tiered wedding confection held the central place on the table, and was surmounted with golden numerals (50) and each tier was embossed in white and yellow blossoms, flowers in the same color fringing the base. Slender yellow tapers were held aloft in gold candlesticks at either side of the cake, and illuminated the lovely scene.

Mrs. C. E. Roamin' In The Rural

Today is the beginning of National Home Demonstration Week, May 3-9. During this week the spot light shines on rural women, their achievements, and their responsibilities. They mold the opinion of the future. They are the keepers of the home and know that Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World. Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, in his message to the Home Demonstration Club members says, "You hold the key to much of the peace and prosperity for this great nation because you are instrumental in shaping opinions and attitudes that start in the home. The teachings and ideas, which you inculcate in the family circle will eventually become those of this great nation because as you know the home is the basic unit of all society."

From Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, who established extension work for rural people 50 years ago, came these words concerning the importance of woman's part in these responsibilities. "The great force that readjusts the world originates in the home. Home conditions will ultimately mold the man's life."

Mrs. Raymond Sayre, world traveler and president of the Associated Country Women of the world has this to say about women's part in world problems. "World understanding starts with ourselves, right where we are, in our homes and communities." Mrs. Sayer is an Iowa farm woman.

Mrs. Jennie Williams from a Wyoming ranch, and president of the National Home Demonstration Council, urges every member of a home demonstration club to tell one woman, who is not a club member her story of what the club means to her. "If this is done," says Mrs. Williams, "Our membership will double next year."

Each of the 22 home demonstration clubs will have a celebration during this week. Presidents of these clubs are: Bosco, Mrs. P.M. Jeter; Cadeville, Mrs. J. H. Henry; Cheniere, Mrs. Elaine Newton; Claiborne, Mrs. C. D. Henderson; Colony, Mrs. Louie Bower; Cypress, Mrs. N. Pinton; Drew, Mrs. C. A. Culpepper; Eureka, Mrs. B. O. Avant; Fairbanks, Mrs. J. .P McKnight; Lakeview, Mrs. Merle Bennett; Lamkin, Mrs. Irvin Waller; Lenwil, Mrs. Harold Chilton; Liberty, Mrs. Loyd Coon; Logtown, Mrs. J B.. Filhoil, Sr.; McClendon, Mrs. Connie Goodwin; Okaloosa, Mrs. Shirley Fowler; Progressive, Mrs. George Younger; Sterlington, Mrs. O. A. Manhart; Swartz, Mrs. E. W. Crum; Thrifty Homemakers, Mrs. Kenneth Lee; Watson, Mrs. T. R. Jones; Woodlawn, Mrs. H. H. Roberts.

Visit in your community and get acquainted with home demonstration work says Mrs. Euna D. Spielman, Home Demonstration agent. You are invited to become a part of this group and do your part in making rural life better.

Pruning Flowering Shrubs.

Can't resist writing a note on this as everyone is saying "If you have not pruned flowering shrubs—do so at once." Not telling much about "how" to prune. We should study how to prune these shrubs carefully. If not done correctly, we will not have blooms next year, according to U. S. D. A. Farmers' Bulletin 1826, page 50 gives this information on this subject:

"The flower buds of many spring-flowering plants are formed in late summer or early fall of the previous year. Some late spring or early summer flowering plants such as everblooming roses form their flower buds in the spring. Most shrubs need only to have weak and crossing branches removed and wood that no longer flower freely. Shrubs that produce several shoots from the ground generally require the removal of the older ones from time to time.

With some shrubs the period of greatest flowering is three or four years or less. An example of this is the common mockorange which becomes tall and leggy, especially if crowded or left unpruned for several years. Such a condition requires the removal of some of the old growth at the ground at least every two years to give the young growth a chance to develop and form flower buds.

Examples of other shrubs likely to need this kind of pruning are many rose species, deutzias, spireas, goldenbell, bush dogwood, abelia, and weigelia.

Some shrubs send up only a few shoots and do not require frequent pruning as described but may be kept in good condition without severe thinning or renewal for 15 or more years. On the other hand they may at times be improved in form and flowering by renewal of the top. Examples of this type are: lilac, viburnums, coral berry, flowering quince, azaleas, camellias, cape jasmines, and laurels." Let's prune correctly and have more beautiful blooms next year.

See you next week.

California large dry lima beans know no season, for they come in handy at all times of the year. On cool spring evenings we like to serve baked lima beans as the one hot dish and accompany the excellent entree with thin slices of cold ham, sliced tomatoes and a frozen dessert.

News From Public Library

Among the new arrivals at the Ouachita Parish Public Library, are books to appeal to every type of reader. Mystery addicts will welcome three new books: "The Scarlet Letters" by Ellery Queen, "They Buried A Man" by Mildred Davis and "The Case of the Hesitant Hostess" by Erle Stanley Gardner.

Historical and period novels continue to appear and there are always readers eagerly awaiting them. Georgette Heyer specializes in writing about Regency England. Her latest story is called "Cotillion." It is the story of Kitty Charing, spirited half-French orphan, who had been adopted by Matthew Penicuik — a man of mean spirit but with a well-lined purse. Matthew had adopted Kitty, because he felt obligated to take care of the daughter of his old friend Tom Charing, but he did not want his money to go outside his own family. Therefore he summoned his nephews together, stating that the one who married Kitty, would inherit his whole estate. Rather than make a choice between a rake, a pious parson, or an Earl who is not quite right in the head, Kitty runs away to seek her fortune in London. This is the story of her adventures.

More and more novels portraying the early history of our country are being published. "The Bright Battalions" by Howard Breslin has for its background the French and Indian war period and the bright battalions are those of General Montcalm, who prevented the British from conquering New France.

Another interesting story of the people who settled our country is "The Wild Ohio" by Bart Spicer. The period of this story is immediately after the American Revolution and the characters are the French Emigrees who fled the Revolution in France and came to make a home in the wilderness of the northwest territory. It is an exciting and vital book and will appeal to many. "Let the Spring Come" by Henry Schindall is a dramatic novel of Virginia and Kentucky in Revolutionary days. It is a poignant love story, a fast-moving story of adventure, intrigue and an inspiring story of hope and courage and a fearful battle against odds.

There are a number of new books of fiction which have their setting in the modern period. "Invitation to Folly" by Susan Ertz is a very interesting story laid in post war England. It is a story of a middle-aged couple and the difficulties in which they found themselves. It is a remarkable interpretation of English society and will hold the interest of the reader. "The Beckoning Waters" by Robert Carse is a long and exciting novel of the Great Lakes region. It is the story of a young Irishman, who rose to fame and success and is the story of his accomplishments.

"The Glorification of Al Toolum" by Robert Alan Aurthur is a very funny story of Al Toolum, an average American citizen, who lived a very prosiac life with his family and children on Long Island. It was his very average qualities that led to his undoing. If you want a good laugh, be sure to read this book.

"Hotel Talleyrand" by Paul Hyde Bonner is a witty and sophisticated novel of life in Paris today. It will appeal to all of those who have been to Paris, or would like to go there. "Good Morning, Young Lady" by Ardyth Kennelly is a delightful story of middle class family life, with the scene in Salt Lake City. It is a warm and appealing story and everyone will love the heroine.

Novels with a Louisiana setting are extremely popular and there have been no new ones for the past few months. Now we have "New Heaven, New Earth" by Arthemise Goertz. This is the story of a young Doctor Victor du Rocher, who returned from practicing in the canal zone in the year 1909, to his native Mandeville, stronghold of an aristocratic Creole society. Looking forward to a summer of ease, he soon finds that his values have changed, and before he is aware of what is going on, he is drawn into a Crusade to free the town of bigotry and intolerance. He is also torn between two women and the love story is a fascinating one. This is a book about our own country that will be eagerly read and long remembered.

The books mentioned are only a few of the new ones available at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. If you are not a patron now, register as soon as possible.

Remove candle drippings from table linens by scraping excess with dull edge of a knife. Rub remainder with lard or turpentine and launder in warm soapsuds.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ford of Monroe. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Floyd of Monroe.

The altar was artistically decorated with tall baskets of gladioli and fern tied with large bows of white satin ribbon forming a beautiful setting for the exchange of nuptial vows.

Preceding the ceremony, a concert of piano music was rendered by Miss Patricia Trull who accompanied the soloist. Miss June Knight, cousin of the bride, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture in a wedding gown of white net over satin. The bodice of the dress was made of lace. A finger tip veil fell from her small crown hat of net. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses tied with white satin ribbon and tiny rosebuds.

Miss Barbara Sumrall, the bride's cousin, was matron of honor. She wore a lovely model of pink nylon and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Literary Club Meets With Mrs W. T. Sartor

MANGHAM — The home of Mrs. W. T. Sartor was most beautiful on last Tuesday evening when Mrs. Sartor and Mrs. Loveless Lyles entertained the club. Huge and artistically arranged bouquets of roses were placed throughout the reception area, and other than being lovely to the eye they shed their fragrance, filling the rooms with an aromatic sweetness that was apparent to all who entered.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Kenneth McDonald. After the pledge of allegiance to the flag, old and new business was discussed. Members decided that the last meeting of the club year, on May 11, 1953, would be a social gathering and the place of the meeting would be determined by the arrangement committee, Mrs. Annette Coolidge and Mrs. Woodford Marlowe.

Mrs. Theo Jones, education chairman, and leader for the evening took charge of the meeting. She gave two interesting articles from the Clubwoman, reminding us that each member should take the time to scan the pages of this magazine each month.

Mrs. Traylor Jones stated that she had asked Mrs. Lula E. Cheek to give a short review of the book, "The Great Audience," and she presented Mrs. Cheek at this time.

The meeting was adjourned by repeating the club collect in unison. The hostesses served homemade cake and sherbet to the group. Group pictures were taken by Mrs. Sartor's son, Billy.

Travel Tips

Approximately a million Americans are expected to visit Europe, Latin America and other foreign lands this summer. For those who are not seasoned travelers, here are some useful tips:

1. Travel light. Take only what you need. One large suitcase and a small dressing case should see you through any contingency, if you plan your wardrobe well.
2. Take along an adequate supply of vitamins for the whole trip. These are cheaper when bought at home, and are duty-free if taken for personel use, says Morton Edell, president of the Vitamin Corporation of America. Other frequently used drugs such as aspirin, indigestion tablets and first-aid essentials also should be bought before you start.
3. You can take powdered milk, prepared baby food, diapers, soap and instant coffee without paying duty in foreign ports.
4. If you need special medicines such as insulin, get your local druggist to give you a list of reputable druggists abroad who can fill prescriptions accurately.
5. Don't eat uncooked vegetables or fruits in Latin American countries, and drink only bottled water in questionable areas, to avoid the ever-prevalent "tourist complaint."

Next time you make scalloped potatoes add grated cheese to the sauce. These are delicious with a veal or beef roast, or with baked ham.

CUTS CAKE — Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Floyd cut their wedding cake at the reception immediately following their wedding. Mrs. Floyd is the former Miss Pauline Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ford. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Floyd.

Special recognition was given to members present of the Caddoan Club, recently organized through the efforts of the Pierian Club. Mrs. C. N. McDuffie issued an invitation to the club from Dr. Julia Hunter to tour through the gardens of Hardtimes Plantation, then owned by Mrs. Hunter.

Members of the two clubs attending the luncheon were: Mrs. C. N. McDuffie, Miss Queenie McDuffie, Mrs. A. B. Carroll, Mrs. R. E. Barham, Sr., Mrs. Marvin Limerick, Mrs. T. E. Princess Makes Home In Canada

CARDSTON, Alta. (AP) — A princess from the Polynesian Islands has come to this southern Alberta town to make her home.

Vela Love was born and raised on the Cook Islands, where her mother, Queen Te Kau, was ruler of Raratonga Island. Her father, Lt.-Col. Love of the New Zealand army, was killed in the second world war.

Princess Veia Love is a convert to the Mormon Church and is to be married to Gilbert Lowry, a Mormon missionary just back from the south seas.

She finds the Alberta climate an extreme change from the 100-degree heat she left.

To pan-fry fish fillets or fish steaks, roll them in flour seasoned with salt and pepper, then put them in hot oil in a heavy skillet. Turn the fish to brown on both sides.

Morehouse Parish HDC Council Meets Recently

We all love pictures for the pleasure and inspiration they give us. An illustrated book is more attractive than one without illustrations, not alone because the pictures clarify the text, but because they add an element of beauty which the writer cannot express in words. Mrs. Shelby White of Mer Rouge, who for many years has made painting her hobby, was the guest speaker at the April meeting of the Morehouse Parish Home Demonstration Club Council at the V. F. W. Hall on the old Monroe Road. She was introduced by Mrs. Leon Doles, program chairman. Mrs. White, whose main art interest is with paints and brushes, emphasized the facts that the appreciation of art is so necessary in our lives, and how some of us don't take time to see the beauty of things around us — little and important things which we so often take for granted. Mediums of painting and fundamental painting principles were discussed as she distributed beautiful works which were examples of things the homemaker could do — china painting, dress designs, tea towels, napkins, aprons, and monograms. Her early beginnings with painting and personal experiences were told in a charming manner to which council members listened eagerly.

Prior to the above program which was the highlight of the day's activities, the executive board, which is composed of Mesdames: Carl Howell, Ralph Hunt, Leon Doles, G. G. Stell, Dale Crawford, Gip Johnson, S. E. Amos, presented the decisions of the following committees to the council body as the president, Mrs. Carl Howell, presided. The ways and means committee will send no delegate to the national convention; the council will operate the concession at the fair for three days.

The voluntary leader is very important to the whole 4-H program. Such leadership works with, for and through others. They are people who live the Head, Heart, Hand and Health ideals of 4-H. To sponsor a 4-H Club trip and the awarding of a silver spoon to the best food preservation girl, who was Ruby Jean Thomas of Gallion, was the report submitted by the 4-H Club committee. Another 4-H activity of council women is to help with achievement day.

The luncheon committee, which is in charge of securing silverware, announced that vanilla extract would be sold for this purpose. Representatives to the state convention, which is held at Camp Grant Walker, will be Mesdames: Carl Howell, G. G. Stell, Dale Crawford; alternates will be Mrs. Melton Pickett and Mrs. George Armstrong Jr.

Two projects of the parish council, better yards contest and national home demonstration week, will necessitate activities for the month of May. In the better yards contest, each club will have its own judges during the first week in May; Miss Williams will come at a later date with more judges to select the first place yard winner in the parish from the community winners.

In observing the eighth national home demonstration club week along with the 50th anniversary of farm and home demonstration work, Louisiana homemakers in home demonstration clubs in all of Louisiana's 64 parishes will observe this week, May 3-9, by calling attention to the objectives and achievements of nationwide home demonstration work. The council of Morehouse Parish Clubs will honor 10, 15 and 25 year club members with a tea, May 12 from 2-9 p.m. Clubs of the parish which were named to serve as committees for this were: McGinty—flower arrangements; Hilltop — punch bowl, cups and napkins; 3rd ward —kitchen and clean up; Victory—refreshments.

With the vice-president, Mrs. Dale Crawford, leading, the council adjourned with the repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison. The next meeting of the council will be June 16 at Chemin-A-Haut Park.

In addition to the guest, (Mrs. White) and Miss Elizabeth Williams (parish agent), council members enjoying a covered dish luncheon were Mesdames: Grover Stephenson, Thomas Matheney, Jimmie Randall, R. E. Harrelson —Pine Grove Club; Mesdames: Fred Sanders, Ira Eubanks, Ida Perkins, Melton Pickett, E. H. Hoskins — 3rd Ward; Mesdames Dale Crawford, H. D. Moore — Victory; Mesdames: Ralph Hunt, Carl Howell, John Herlevic — Hilltop; Mesdames: David Doles, Garland Stell, George Armstrong, Leon Doles — McGinty; Mesdames: S. E. Amos, F. K. Perry, Blaine White — Perryville; Mrs. H. G. Butler — Johnson Club; Mrs. Claude Thomas — Jones Club.

You can determine the color - fastness of your slipcovers by dipping a portion of the material in a sudsy solution, squeezing and then pressing it on a white cloth or blotter. If color runs, the white cloth will be stained.

MR. AND MRS. ROY M. FERRINGTON — Before her marriage in West Monroe recently Mrs. Ferrington was Miss June Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Blake. Mr. Ferrington is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Ferrington also of West Monroe, where the couple are making their home.

Miss June Blake Becomes Bride

The wedding uniting Miss June Blake and Mr. Roy M. Ferrington was solemnized recently at the twilight hour in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in West Monroe. The Reverend Jaroy Weber, pastor, officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Blake, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Ferrington, all of West Monroe.

Forming the beautiful setting for the exchange of the nuptial vows were slender white cathedral tapers burning from a myriad candelabra against a background of baskets of white stock, gladioli and greenery. The vows were taken beneath a trellis arch of greenery.

Preceding the ceremony pre-nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Ralph Fields, who accompanied the soloist, Mr. Dale Cobb, who sang, "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in traditional white satin. Her white satin, close-fitting hat was covered with the veil of illusion, caught at the sides and fell into a finger tip veil. Her bridal bouquet was a single orchid tied with rose point nylon tulle and white satin streamers, supported by a white Bible.

Miss Betty Cowen was the bride's maid of honor. She wore a green taffeta dress identical to that of the bride. Her corsage was of white feathered carnations. Miss Bernie Gene Cobb, niece of the bride, and Miss Kathryn Pinion, niece of the groom, served as candle lighters. They were dressed in lovely long white organdy dresses, with corsages of pink carnations.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Mr. Bennie Thigpen. The ushers were Mr. Eugene Cowen of West Monroe and Mr. Quinton Kiesewetter of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mrs. Blake chose a model of beige lace, with pink elbow length gloves and accessories. With this she wore a pink feathered carnation corsage. Mrs. Ferrington, mother of the groom, chose a spring suit of black with matching accessories and a corsage of carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Ludwig Avenue. The bridal party received at the door of the hospitable reception rooms, which were beautifully adorned for the occasion with lovely floral arrangements at all the vantage points. The bride's table was laid with a beautiful lace cloth centered by an exquisite arrangement of white jumbo carnations and candy tuft, interspersed with greenery. Crystal candle holders added to the decoration. The beautiful three-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Quinto Kiesewetter, sister of the groom, presiding at the handsome crystal punch service was Mrs. J. G. Cobb. Miss Mollie Ann Cobb was in charge of the bride's guest book.

After the reception the young couple left for their wedding trip to Orlando, Florida, by way of New Orleans and the Gulf Coast. The bride changed her wedding dress for a becoming navy blue linen suit worn with an orchid corsage.

The bride graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and Monroe Commercial School. She is presently employed at the Monroe Housing Authority office. The groom graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and was employed by the Louisiana Light and Power Company when he was called into service for a period of eighteen months overseas, from which duty in Korea he recently returned. After returning from their honeymoon they are now at home to their friends at 404½ Clayton Street in West Monroe.

When storing woolens in trunk or chest, about a pound of anti-moth crystals will be needed for scattering around.

Girl Scout News

There seems to be a growing interest on the part of junior high troops in somewhat more primitive camping than can be done in a building with all facilities. Troop 28 pioneered along this line by sleeping in pup tents a couple of weeks ago. A light rain during the night made the girls feel more than ever like pioneers. It didn't keep them from staying on until they had cooked breakfast.

Wanda Hinkle and Ethel Easterling, pinch-hitting for Eula Davenport, who had a cold, accompanied the girls. One or two girls had to miss the trip, but the following were on hand for this unusual experience: Nancy Breard, Mary Jo Davenport, Sally Hinkle, Trudy Baugh, Marie Martin, Martha Riser, Mary Elizabeth Webster, Mary Emma Wilson, Kay Worley, Cheryl Fink, Charlotte Bruscato, June Johnson, Emily Kay Ensminger, Penny Prophit.

During the fall and winter Troop 28 has, among its other accomplishments, qualified for a star badge. Mr. V. S. Garnett has helped them in this fascinating study.

In spite of the downpour Friday, Troop 23 got off to camp on schedule. With leaders Helen Hofler and Elaine Herr in charge, the girls reached Pine Wood in time to enjoy the beautiful sunset after the rain. With a bright fire in the fireplace the troop spent a cozy evening playing games until bedtime. The shoe game has proved a popular singing game at camp. Troop 23 played it until the leaders say their ears still ring with "You must pass this shoe from me to you, to you. You must pass this shoe, and do just as I do."

Damp wood Saturday morning did not discourage the firebuilders, who succeeded in making a good fire for breadtwists for breakfast. Flag ceremonies, a nature hike, cooking in foil at lunch time, made Saturday pass all too quickly until time to leave camp. Then a hustle and bustle to make bedrolls, clean up the building spic and span, put everything back in place.

Finally with parents arriving to take Scouts home, all stand in a semicircle around the flag pole while color bearer and guards lower the flag to mark the end of Troop 23's first overnight. We hope that with this taste of camping, the troop will go on learning more of the out of door skills.

Of unusual interest to the girls of Troop 34 was the cookout which the troop enjoyed in the Strausser's yard. These girls were really ambitious, trying both reflector and stick cooking. Cherry cobbler on the reflector oven turned out to be just as good as the one Mother makes in the kitchen. And when the fire burned to coals it was just perfect for breadtwists. Smart leaders June Strausser and Doris Keller found that canned biscuits made excellent breadtwists and the Scouts were more than glad to try the experiment.

Like Troop 23, Troop 34 is made up of first year intermediates who are soon to become Second Class Scouts. Troop 34, according to their leaders, has marked a date on the office calendar for an overnight at Pine Wood.

Inter troop activities are always good Scouting, we say, especially when the girls are about the same age and have the same interests. The recent skating party held by Troops 33 and 55 sounded like a lot of fun. Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. W. R. Crown and Mrs. Ted Allen are leaders of the troops.

Troop 55 also has recently presented a book to their room library at Lexington School and a pillow to the first aid room.

This week end is the date of the two-day camp Troop 10 has looked forward to for many weeks. Troop 43 was to have its fly up and Troop 10 a court-of-awards at camp today, with families coming out for the affair. You'll be interested in the details next Sunday.

Teens Conquer Slouch Habit

When you sit and listen to a classroom lecture or sit at your own desk doing homework, do you choose a position that trains you to be graceful?

Your spine and the back of your neck should line up perfectly straight; your hips against the back of your chair, your knees together, and the toes of one foot meeting the arch of the other. Your legs should not be perpendicular to the knees but forward on the floor to form a slight angle with them.

When you particularly want to make a good appearance, cross your legs only if your thighs are slender enough to allow your legs to form two almost parallel lines. To do the crossing gracefully, keep one hand on the knee you are raising to cross. This small measure will prevent your skirt from sliding back.

When you are not using your hands while seated, do you give others the fidgets because you fidget so much yourself? You can keep them quiet if you learn what to do with them. If legs are crossed, join your hands together gracefully at the side of your lap.

Otherwise, keep hands in lap, palms upward, and join fingers in a relaxed manner as close to one knee as you can comfortably reach. Or hold one hand in the other with thumb of lower hand resting in the palm that is uppermost. Or encircle the second and third finger of the upper hand between the thumb and forefinger of the lower hand. In all these hand positions, elbows are close to the body, fingers point toward knees and hands are held far out on the lap.

Remember that control of the hands is a simple matter of will power. When you are not using them, do not give them meaningless occupations. The above positions will give you a working repertory for nervous moments. But catch your own hands unaware when you are not nervous and make the position you have naturally assumed an habitual one, provided it is graceful.

Summer Hosiery Sheerer Now

There's news in nylons this year, important to the woman who wants to get the most for her money. New manufacturing techniques have produced hosiery sheerer than ever before, and also long-wearing qualities in slightly heavier stockings for everyday wear.

Experts of the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers advise women to buy several weights and styles of hosiery for different purposes — the glamorous ultra-sheer kind for dress-up and evening wear, the sturdy, long-wearing kind for around-the-house and for sports. In addition there are "knee-high" stockings for summer wear, when you want to leave off your girdle, and new high-style clockings and such for formal wear.

Longer - wearing stockings also are available in medium - sheer weights. One manufacturer even insures his stockings against runs for the first week of wear.

DOROTHY JANE BAKER — Will wed Donald J. Smith of Clinton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady Baker of Homer. The couple plan to make their home in Clinton.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held In Choudrant

The junior - senior banquet was held in the study hall of the Choudrant High School Thursday evening with the theme of "Hitch Your Wagon To A Star" being carried out throughout the program.

Cap Helps Keep Beauties Safe

If you plan to spend much time at the beach this summer, why not let this be, perhaps for the first time, a summer in which you gain health and beauty benefits with none of the usual pains and discomforts?

Guard against the burn that creeps up on you unaware, as you lie blissfully in the sun. You feel so warm and drowsy — the sun is not too hot. But that night you have a deep, angry red skin.

This doesn't have to happen if you use your sunburn preventive lotion even when you feel the sunshine doesn't warrant it. There's always reflection from sand and water. Re-apply it when you come out of the water.

Take with you everything you need to be as comfortable at the beach as in your home, and without loading yourself down with a towel dripping here and a bottle spilling there. Lightweight, waterproof bags — large enough and compartmented to hold everything neatly — take care of this problem.

One such bag made by a house famed for its beach accessories, is in sand - color mesh with a border of rubber flowers and a convenient drawstring. There's a wide - fringed stole in the same sand mesh, and a bathing cap comes trimmed with rubber flowers in coral, green or aqua.

Award Given For Essay In Desk And Derrick Contest

"You see us everywhere. The trim little blonde who brings your mail during the day is the Hall Girl. The lady in the white uniform that gives you the red pill and swabs your throat is the Industrial Nurse. Peering through her microscope and juggling test tubes up on the next floor is the chemist. Beating out a tattoo on her typewriter in the next office is the stenographer. Down the hall working on a map to select the spot to "shoot a well" is a lady geologist. And the efficient young woman who makes your appointments and keeps your personnel records is your secretary." This is the beginning of the winning essay written by Miss Agnes Bracher, oil company secretary of Houston, Texas. The essay contest, "Why My Boss Should Send Me to The Oil Show," was sponsored by the Tulsa Desk and Derrick Club and conducted throughout 46 chapters of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America, according to an announcement made by Miss Leta Dillon, president of the Tulsa chapter. Miss Bracher is the winner of an expense paid visit to the Tulsa oil show May 17 which has been designated "Desk and Derrick Day" during the International Petroleum Exhibition, May 14-23.

Miss Bracher joined the Desk and Derrick Club of Houston in May, 1951 and is a member of The Catline Staff, the club's bulletin. As a member of the Humble Club, she is serving as a news reporter. Her extra curricular activities include her enrollment in a law class in the South Texas College of Law, Houston.

In conclusion of her essay, Miss Bracher states, "The International Petroleum Exposition will show me in a clear-cut, understandable manner, such important oil steps as exploration, drilling, production, refining, pipeline networks, and the latest in scientific research. This 10-day session at Tulsa can do what it would take many years to do here on the job. Just think, I would actually see portrayed nearly a century of progress in the oil industry! Boss let some of that Tulsa oil lubricate this little "cog" in our company. I'll come back geared to do a better job for you and for Humble."

On May 17, the day designated as Desk and Derrick day, the presentation of award will be made to the woman chosen as Oil Woman of the Year at the Exposition Grounds by the IPE Management.

At the present time two members of the Desk and Derrick Club of Monroe are planning to attend this Tulsa Oil Show. They are Miss Maria Ann Cascio of Stanolind Oil and Gas Company and Mrs. Bertha Patterson of Interstate Natural Gas Company, Inc.

Rugs infested with the extremely destructive wool - and velvet - eating buffalo bugs and carpet beetles should be sent away to a carpet cleaner who will steam and sterilize them. Sixth grains of corrosive sublimate in one pint of alcohol will kill them, but it is a deadly poison and rooms where it is used must be kept locked.

Smooth Chest And Shoulders

If a low-cut neckline reveals skin less smooth and fair on shoulders and chest than that of your face and neck, you can improve these areas with the same treatment creams you use above your collarbone.

Prepare yourself for a thorough job by dressing for the part. You might wrap a huge towel around you and tuck it in place so that your shoulders and upper chest are bare.

First cleanse and stimulate with plenty of warm soapsuds and a complexion brush. Be sure to rinse off every trace of soap thoroughly when you're finished.

Now lather on this entire area some of your richest cleansing cream. Massage it in with upward molding movements of your palms and finger tips. Wipe off the cream with cleansing tissues.

A film of cream, of course, remains on your skin. To benefit from it, apply towels wrung out in very hot water. Keep applying them until your skin is glowing. The film of cream will easily wipe off now. Then splash with very cold water or your skin freshener.

Finish by massaging with a very little light oil which will go into the skin without leaving a greasy film.

If you take this treatment often, your chest and shoulder skin should soon be as pretty as that on your face.

Jacket linings should be absolutely colorfast. Before buying, rub a handkerchief over the lining. If any color shows on the handkerchief, don't buy.

Banquet Honors Sixth Graders

A lovely banquet marked the culmination of a most successful year for the basketball teams of Lida Benton School, and, at the same time, served to honor members of the sixth grade before they depart from their elementary Alma Mater.

On Thursday, April 16, the lunchroom was converted into a banquet hall. The tables were beautifully decorated in ivy and red roses. Sixty-six pupils accompanied by their mothers and fathers, making more than 200, found their places and awaited delectable foods that had been prepared by the mothers.

They were assisted in preparation of the hams and salad by Mrs. B. S. Campbell, Lida Benton's most efficient lunch - room supervisor. The menu for the occasion consisted of baked ham, English peas, potato salad, hot rolls, apple pie, cold drinks, and coffee.

Mrs. J. N. Riddle acted as Master of Ceremonies. She called for remarks from guests who included: Mr. Lavergne, Mr. Leigh, Mr. and Mrs. Perkins, Capt. Lewis Mockabee, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Golson. Mr. Lavergne mentioned the success his team had enjoyed. He said they were first place winners in the Invitational Tournament and second place winners in the finals. Mr. Leigh was high in his praise of the athletic program.

He mentioned how it was serving youth in developing good sportsmanship, and thus teaching our boys and girls "to live together."

Mr. Perkins said he had enjoyed working with all the boys and girls. Capt. Lewis Mockabee, an ardent athletic supporter, gave a very inspiring talk. He said he had made most of the games with the boys and girls and had seen how they reacted to both defeat and victory.

He stressed the value of competitive sports in helping to instill values of right living in youth. At the conclusion of his talk, he formally presented trophies won by the teams during the basketball season. Two first place trophies for the girls, who emerged as champions, were presented to their coach, Prin. F. K. Golson and one first place and one second place for the boys to their coach, Mr. Leslie Lavergne.

Mr. Golson explained how his lovely affair had grown from a suggestion to do something for the ball teams to banquet proportions as was being witnessed and enjoyed at that time. He also reviewed the success that had crowned his efforts with the girls' team.

Mrs. Golson explained that she had taught for three years some of the boys and girls, others one and two years. She said this was one of the finest classes to pass through the portals of Lida Benton.

Keep Lingerie Sweet, Dainty

Teen - agers, you've probably often heard that men prize daintiness in a girl almost above anything else. Those of you who hope and expect to marry might begin training yourself in daintiness now.

What exactly is meant by this quality? It's the sum total of many little practices that leave you absolutely clean, tidy and fragrant. And the girl who is truly dainty is mistress of a routine that never leaves her caught short on these points.

A few examples will serve to illustrate daintiness. For instance, are your fingernails always manicured and perfectly clean? It's a good idea to have an emery board, an orangewood stick and a nail-white pencil in your handbag for emergency use.

Is your lingerie always sweet? At night when you launder your stockings, why not take five minutes more and launder your slip, bra and girdle as well? Two sets of lingerie plus a third for emergency are all most girls require. It's easier to keep them clean than to face an accumulation of laundry.

Girls who wear the sheer nylon blouses so popular these days aren't capitalizing on the daintiness inherent in such blouses if the lingerie which shows through isn't right.

To be right, it ought to have wide shoulder straps to cover the brassier straps, ought to be cut high enough in back and in front to cover the brassiere, ought to match the blouse in color, and should be opaque and pretty, though not fussy. The slip under a sheer blouse that doesn't meet these requirements spoils the dainty picture you can make.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: Our entire family is heartsick at the way my brother is treating his wife and we all hope you can help us. My brother and his wife have two children and have been married for 12 years. His wife became ill and had to spend four months in the hospital with orders not to work hard for a year. When she came home, my brother had packed and left for another woman. My sister-in-law is heartbroken and will have another breakdown if something isn't done.

My brother claims that he loves the other girl and that the girl knows he is married and a father but that she loves him and will not give him up. He adored his two children and all we can believe is that this girl has him hypnotized. Please help us. — Mrs. K. K.

What a fool that other girl is! Any man who has been married for 12 years and who is a father and loves his children has ties and bonds too deep to ever completely love another woman; if she does get him, she gets only a small part that will go up in smoke (and I do mean smoke).

On the possibility that this girl does not know your brother is married (he would be apt to lie), I would advise you and your husband to call on her and acquaint her with all the facts. And, whether or not she knows, get her to come into his home and see him in the role of father and husband and to see the condition of the wife whose home she means to shatter.

Dear Mrs. Landrs: I am a senior in high school and have asked a girl, whom I once thought was a nice person, to the Senior Prom. When I asked her to go, she seemed happy about the invitation and accepted but since that time she has been giving me the cold shoulder and refuses to accept a date; the excuse is always a lame one. She has been flirting with other boys in the neighborhood. Should I tell her I can't take her to the prom (but how?) or should I let her take me for a first-class chump? She is a senior, too.—Desperate Senior.

If you are not good enough for milady now, you are not good enough to take her to the prom. Whom does she think she is? Ask her for another date and if she refuses, tell her that under the circumstances you feel she must be sorry that she accepted your prom date and to consider herself released from it.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have an only sister who is older and who constantly makes derogatory remarks before our friends about them and me. She and her husband are better off than we and she thinks that makes her better.

Several months ago she made some remarks about our father that were particularly cutting and I asked her to keep them to herself. We have not spoken since. Her birthday is soon and I would like to give her a present as I still love her and she is the only sister I have. My husband says I should wait until she apologizes. Please tell me what to do. On the other hand, I do not want her to think the present means an apology from me. — Dora

Such pettiness! A hundred years from now it isn't going to matter which one of you apologized first, so get it over with and be the bigger of the two. Send the gift, by all means, and let your sister figure out for herself the sentiment behind it. If she is a born troublemaker, you can apologize or accept her apologies until you are blue in the face and she would continue to make trouble.

When she makes derogatory remarks in the future, don't answer her and her cracks will backlash at her.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Morning World.

Enrich Summer Garden, Plant Gladiola Bulbs

To maintain a beautiful garden throughout the summer months, try planting the multi - colored gladioli. Careful planning now will save many worries in the months to come. Be sure that the stem-end of the gladiola bulb is planted up, and sufficient room, about six or eight inches is left between plants. Holes or trenches should be about five inches deep, and if more than one row is planted, leave about 24 inches for best results. Gladioli need a well-drained, sunny location.

The bulbs may be planted as soon as the ground is workable and several plantings at various intervals before July 1 will ensure blooms through the summer.

In the early past of the season, cultivate the soil to eliminate weed. After the weeds are under control, the only cultivation necessary is to break up the crust and retain moisture after rains. Such cultivation should be shallow so that the feeder roots near the surface are not injured.

The soil should be soaked well at least once a week, especially during June, July and August. Feeding with a commercial fertilizer several times during the growing season is beneficial. Blooms should be cut on the slant, leaving four or five leaves on the plant to manufacture food for the new bulbs that will be formed.

Thrip, the gladiola's worst insect enemy, can be controlled by dusting the bulbs with a five per cent DDT before planting, with more dusting when leaves are six inches high and again when spikes begin to form. The tiny insect, only 1-16 inches long, develops from eggs invisible to the naked eye. It feeds on the bulb, leaves, buds and flowers.

Leave bulbs in the ground as late in the fall as possible, since fall rains help to increase their size, but remove them to storage before the first cold spell. Clean and store them in trays in a dry place having an even temperature.

Plant From Wilds Rarely As Good As Nursery Kind

Most amateur gardeners are lost babes in the woods when they're tempted to collect trees and shrubs from wilds and roadsides. In effect, the venture can turn into a headache. Ther are a number of restrictions, legal and otherwise, that make the effort hardly worth while.

Importantly, state and federal laws regulate the moving of plant material. They are intended to control the spread of insects and diseases. This is reason enough for transplating caution. But equally important, according to E. T. Bowen, area representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., knowledge and real skill are required for successful tree moving. Such aptitude and experience - particularly in selecting specimens worthy of removal-rarely are acquired by the weekend horticulturist.

Horticulture is an old science. Improved trees and plants have been selected and bred for hundreds of years. The trees, shrubs and evergreens offered in the nursery are generally vastly superior to their wild cousins for landscaping.

Wild plants often resent domestication. Those in the nursery are "trained" to live under difficult city conditions. For instance, the flowering dogwood is a beautiful shrub in the wild. It can be equally appealing in the garden. On the home grounds, however, it should have good growth habits and for transplanting success a root system that has been restricted annually. Your nurseryman has the plants that fill these requirements. Chances are you'd have to look far and wide in the wilds before coming up with a plant of equal quality and you can't expect the "collected" item to have a restricted root system.

THERE IS NO need to worry about how your garden grows if you make sure the gladiola bulbs are planted with the pointed surface upward according to Donna Kime. Giant Gladioli must be planted at least six inches apart. Be sure to choose a sunny spot so that the gladiola bed will have plenty of sun.

PINE TREES

There are a lot of false ideas going around about pine trees. One of these popular misconceptions is that you cannot keep pines on a lot when you build a house, so you might just as well cut them all down at the start. It is true that pines are quite sensitive to damage and are often destroyed by the beating they have to take when trucks and other machinery rub up against them and scar them to any extent, but those which are not damaged in this way will survive. There is another false idea that you cannot grow anything underneath pines. If the pines are very thick and their shade is fairly dense and the needles plentiful other plants will have a difficult time in the shade. Also, although pines seem to have very scanty root systems, they do take a lot of nourishment from the soil, and you have to feed the pines and the plants you grow under them just as you would have to feed any other kind of trees and the plants you grow underneath their branches.

There are several reasons why pines seem to be always dying. Perhaps the commonest reason is that the tops are rubbing together, and nature is eliminating some of them because they are too thick. Little pines come up in a dense stand on land that is abandoned from cultivation. From the start, there are far too many of them, and the battle for a place in the sun begins right then. This competition keeps right on going until way after the trees are up as high as fifty feet.

Each pine needs a certain amount of light to develop completely, and, one after the other, the weaker trees are killed. So you can look at your pines and tell in advance that some of them, if they are too close together, will eventually be killed. Pines should be at least twice the reach of a man's arms from trunk to trunk and still more space between them is desirable.

Pines are very susceptible to "pine borers." When the trees are cut during the growing season, borers frequently get started in the "laps" or tops of the trees which are often left lying around on the ground. For a few weeks after the trees are cut, these laps are still quite soft and just what the borers want. The insects fly to them and lay their eggs, and then the borers go into the soft wood. For this reason, it is best to keep pine wood of any kind cleaned up around your place in order to be sure that you are not raising a crop of borers from insects which have flown into your property and layed.

If there are pines cut near you, you should be on the alert — especially during the growing season. If you must cut down pines on your own property during the growing season, be sure to take away every vestige of the limbs at once. Dig about the stumps and saw them off as close to the ground as possible. You can even go over them with a blow torch to burn and harden the wood and prevent the borer insects from laying eggs in the bark.

As for plants not growing under pine trees, you have only to take a ride in your car to find the answer to this one. Some of the sweetest wild strawberries ripening at this time of the year are right under pine trees where the light shade has discouraged many other plants which demand the full sun and encouraged the berries to grow there.

A lot of people think they cannot cultivate under pines without killing the trees. They are somewhat sensitive and do not stand for having their roots cut too closely, but pines are beautiful in a garden, and you can grow many things underneath them. Single pine, which stand, here and there, over the garden will not make shade enough to discourage growth unless they are young ones and have a great spread of branches. Even under a solid canopy of pines, there is about half shade — just what many plants really need to do their best in our hot southern gardens. A subsoiler will not kill pines, as we have stated in the column before, if you will stay about six feet away from the trunks and operate the subsoiler outward like the spokes of a wheel instead of crossing the roots.

Pine trees of the native kinds we have in the southern states live to be around one hundred years of age before they begin to deteriorate. The sound of the wind soughing in the tall pines is one of the best things in the woods, and anyone is lucky who can listen to them on a city lot. It is worthwhile to make an effort to save pines if you have some, too, because they lend a beautiful touch of evergreen when the leaves come off the other trees and leave your yard bare of greenery.

We have several pines native to the south which are well worth cultivating. Of course, the longleaf pine is superb. It can be transplanted when very small and can be bought from nurseries. The several shorter leaved pines are worth growing, too. Even the spruce pine or Jersey scrub, with its many limbs up and down the trunk and its very short needles on numerous little short branches make a lacy pattern in winter as beautiful as many of the pines which people import to this country and plant in their yards. White pines — the five-needles-in-a-bunch species from our mountains can be grown this far toward the sea but are not as happy here as some of the foreign kinds like the Bhotan pine.

Sometimes one sees pines which some one is trying to make into evergreen shrubs by annual trimmings and prunings. The white pine puts up with this in the mountains, but it soon gets sick when you try it this far from its home. Try something else for hedge purposes because such a hedge does not last many seasons before it will sicken and die.

The Home Shift

With

Mildred Swift

May 3 to 9 is National Home Demonstration Week. To the homemaker it means a recognition of the importance of her job as a homemake, her place in the community, her influence for good in local, state, national and international affairs. History reveals that certain movements have caused lasting and important changes in the lives of people. We believe Home Demonstration movement is one of these.

Garden Ramblins

Hasn't the Confederate Jasmine been beautiful this year? Drive down Jackson Street to 918, the Easterling home. Turn at Bright Avenue and notice the 50 year old vine in bloom against the side of the house. Miss Marguerette and I are trying to find an old fashioned star jasmine and a white Lady Banks. The star jasmine is different from the confederate. Call me if you have information. Remember the jasmine will grow in sun or semi-shade and can be propagated by layering. It is very fragrant.

You can transplant both native and bearded iris now. Both like shallow planting. The native like acid soil and mulch. They'll grow in water or on dry land. The bearded like well drained alkaline soil (put a scant handful of bonemeal under each rhizome) and should be cut back in fan shape when transplanted.

The old day lily never disappoints us. For those with limited incomes and unfilled space in the yard, the "Lizzie" that's blooming now is unsurpassed. They can be moved at any time, are evergreen and will go through a drouth without bad results. They do respond to watering, though. They're beautiful along garden paths, on hill sides and slopes and bordering beds.

Those who attended the Welcome Garden Club flower show fell in love with "Belles of Ireland" as a foliage plant and the leaves of the paper plant. Mrs. Evans gave us the address for ordering seed of Belles of Ireland. Six weeks of warm weather is all it needs to mature. For the paper plant I refer you to Mrs. W. B. McGee, West Monroe.

couple from a nearby town made a tour of the Twin Cities one Sunday. They wrote me the next week saying "Mrs. Swift, we've never seen such beautiful yards, but why don't you people get the stores to clean up around their places of business? There were boxes, trash and smelly vegetables in front and back of the stores." Well stores — I'm passing this criticism on to any of you —if the shoe fits.

Colored City High School

When passing the Colored City High School, I noticed how much improvement had been made on the grounds. The principal of the school told me his boys (under his supervision) borrowed tractors, discs and harrows and turned the cotton rows into level ground. Much of the work was done at night. Mrs. Noe provided pine seedlings and 150 of these were planted along with some pin oaks. The shrubbery beds are being prepared by the pupils, for planting next fall. Principal Carroll, his faculty and pupils are to be commended for this fine work. Let's all help them next fall by dividing some of our plants and presenting them to the school. Principal Carroll, I suggest you carry your faculty to see the Ransom School grounds in West Monroe. The pupils of this school also did their own beautification. You can get some fine ideas.

News-Star Recipes

Have you ever seen such a wonderful bunch of recipes, all in one place? Isn't it nice to have instructions from your neighbors and friends' choice dishes — right in your kitchen? The judging was a long and tedious job simply because all the recipes were excellent. Mr. Brown and Irene tell me this contest will be repeated next year. I'm looking forward to collecting more of your fine recipes.

Interesting History

The three linden trees on the Central Grammar School campus are now in bloom. The bloom is born on an oblong flower brace just under the large leaf. Mr. E. L. Neville tells me these trees were planted by a German name Kihneman in 1901. Let's request our nurseries to stock the linden tree. It grows well in compact soil such as we have on our school grounds.

That's all for today. See you next Sunday.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q—A local nurseryman advertises that all his plants are guaranteed to contain chlorophyll. Is this correct?

A—Yes. Chlorophyll is the green coloring matter in leaves, a complex chemical which, acting as a catalyst, enables a plant to take carbon dioxide and water from the air and soil and, in the presence of light, form glucose. From this glucose and the soil minerals, all other organic compounds are manufactured.

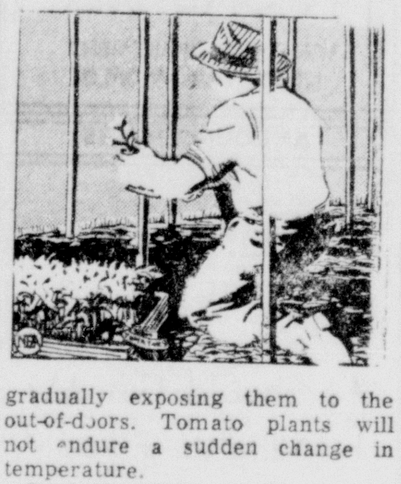
How To Plant The Vegetable King--Tomato

BY HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

A gentle reminder to the vegetable gardener is that tomatoes, as always, will form the chief crop in the 1953 vegetable garden. The usual advice is that plants should be set out in the open ground about the middle of May.

Those who plan to grow their plants must sow seed early.

The accepted practice is to sow seed about ⅛-inch deep in a hotbed, or a greenhouse, or in a box near a sunny window of a room where the night temperature does not fall below 55 degrees. When the plants are about two inches high they may be thinned out to stand three inches apart and transplanted to four-inch pots or old berry boxes, and babied along until transplanted to their permanent home in the garden.



The gardener is warned, however, not to transfer the plants from the heat of the house or hotbed to the garden without first gradually exposing them to the out-of-doors. Tomato plants will not endure a sudden change in temperature.

Seed should be started in soil composed of equal parts of sand, humus and garden earth, all well mixed and screened. Use no fertilizer or manure in seed-starting soil. Sterilize the mixture by pouring boiling water over the flat or pot, use two quarts of boiling water for each quart of soil.

Allow to drain, sow seed sparingly, ⅛ inch deep and cover lightly with sand. Seed should be treated before planting with one of the protective compounds such as red copper oxide or spergon.

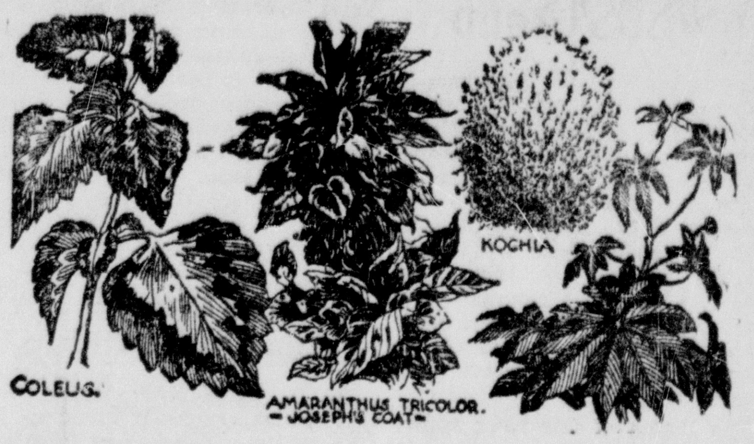
Care must be taken to prevent over- or underwatering of both seeds and seedlings. Constant soil moisture and air temperature is a must from the time seed is sown until the young plants are hardening off.

The garden soil must be well prepared, a loose soil, in which humus and fertilizer have been incorporated, is ideal. Drainage, too, is essential. Soil on the acid side of the scale should have some coarse limstone mixed with the fertilizer and worked in prior to planting.

Staking of plants is recommended because it takes up less garden space and produces better fruit. A good rugged stake should be driven 15 inches into the ground, three inches from each plant.

The stake should be long enough to stand five feet above ground after being firmly placed. Drive stake into the soil before planting, not afterward. Stakes are set 2½ feet apart in rows three feet apart.

Hedges And Background Plants Grown From Seed



Plants with decorative foliage are especially useful to new home owners who need screen and background planting at small expense, quickly effective. If landscape plans have not fully taken shape, and it is desired to test the effect of a large shrub in a certain place, before actually planting, the gigantic castor bean can be grown in a few weeks.

From one small bean can be grown a beautiful plant eight feet tall and as large in diameter. The leaves are huge, beautifully shaped, of bronze or maroon coloring. The Zanzibar strain will produce plants 12 feet tall, in favorable locations, with rich soil and plenty of water.

For a low hedge around a flower planting, or to serve any similar purpose, the fine leaved fire plant Kochia childsii is excellent. Conical bushes 2½ feet high with fine light green foliage can be grown singly or close enough together to be trimmed as a hedge. In the late summer the leaves turn to crimson.

The softly brilliant coloring of coleous plants reach their full brilliance in a sunny location, and will grow quickly from seed. A mass planting in a front yard focal point is highly decorative. New leaves develope throughout the summer and the colors never fade.

Bushes four to six feet tall can be grown from seed of Tithonia, sometimes called the golden flower of the Incas. This bears flowers of bright orange, about two inches in diameter. The variety Torch grows 3 to 4 feet, and is more compact, with earlier flowers.

In hot, sunny locations, Amaranthus tricolor, often called Joseph's coat after the biblical story of the coat of many colors, will attain its finest coloring. The inner foliage is of blackest bronze, tipped with green, the outer bright scarlet and gold.

Heavy - leaved plants should be relieved by those of finer character in the border. Some of the ornamental grasses easily raised from seed are useful for this purpose and are often seen associated with cannas, castor beans, or the fancy leaved caladium.

The ornamental grasses, both annual and perennial, give excellent decorative effects. The pennisetums, pampas grass (erianthus) and eulalia with green and white leaves are all attractive.

Twins comprise 1.07 per cent of the babies born in the United States. Twenty per cent of these are said to be twins of the identical type.

Keep Mother Young Looking with.....
ESTROLAR CREAM
Our customers rave about Estrolar's success with mature skin

Many of our customers are Doubting Thomases. But they tried Gourielli's Estrolar Cream on our say-so ... and were thrilled with the results! Here is what they discovered:

First, that estrogenic hormones really do a job. They work below the surface of the skin to increase its ability to hold moisture—the moisture that makes young skins firm and beautiful and that diminishes with age. By massaging Estrolar Cream into your skin, you cause the underskin to fill out ... gently stretching the outerskin. Then little wrinkles disappear one by one. Your skin looks firmer, fuller and years younger.

Second, that older skin shows a lack of oxygen by becoming discolored and flaky. The ozonides in Estrolar work on the outerskin to give it true oxygen and circulate the facial blood more briskly. This tends to banish sallowness, roughness and bumps ... to lighten and brighten the skin. To help you recapture the fresher bloom of youth!

Our customers (being Doubting Thomases) had to prove all these things to their own satisfaction. And their satisfaction is evident, judging by the number who've been coming back for their second and third jars of Estrolar Cream. They say "At last I can see a difference. I'm going to use Estrolar from now on."

Try it for yourself. Massage Estrolar on for 10 minutes every night. You'll see wonderful results in just a few days. But a whole month's treatment produces wonders. When friends ask "What have you done?" Tell them about Gourielli's Estrolar — a 30-day jar 5.00 plus tax.

Mrs. Damenro In Mission Address To WSCS Group

Approximately 160 members of the Monroe district W. S. C. S. were present April 30, First Methodist Church, Monroe, to hear an inspirational address by Mrs. G. W. Damenro, Pineville, who is a member of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, representing the woman's division. Mrs. Dameron has just returned from Buck Hill Falls, Pa., where plans were formulated to extend the scope of the missionary enterprise around the world.

The theme of this work conference covered these four main areas: The Christian Message and the Struggle for Freedom Old Patterns are not Sufficient; The Role of the Missionary in the New Strategy; A Call to Prayer by the Council of Bishops. Mrs. Dameron's message to the Monroe district was based on this theme, "Missions at mid - Century." She said in part: "The opinion was advanced in this work conference that Christianity around the world is not recognized as a protagonist of freedom. It is essential that unity and intergration be achieved among denominations if we are to convince the new converts in foreign countries that Christianity is a potential imperative, and is better than the old religion.

"The new strategy indicates that churches if they are to take root in these countries, must be related to every day life and in so doing this doctrine can give dignity and religious value to all workers. The church must proclaim this doctrine as an inescapable challenge of the Christian life. The world is in desperate need of the Christian gospel. It is the one final solution of our world - wide tragedy. This message will be received more readily if taught by native leadership.

"Missionary means, "one who goes," and the missionary movement must be mobile if it reaches the people in migrant camps, and out - villages. Missionaires must be supplemented by Christian laymen and women in business and in professional life.

"The range of Christian service is almost unlimited. The Methodist Church alone needs 6,000 ministers, 12,000 doctors, nurses, technicians, social workers, 1,5000 in mission service at home and abroad; 2,000 Christian educators. And finally we have come to realize that the missionary outreach is a two - way traffic in which foreign Christian leaders can lend valuable counsel and assistance. The need is urgent if we are to build a world Christian community and bring peace to the world."

MARRIED IN CHAPEL — Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Allen Mooney exchanged wedding vows in the Bellevue Chapel in Washington. Mrs. Mooney is the former Jeane Morris of West Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morris. Mr. Mooney is from Presque Isle, Maine.

Military Wedding Unites Young Couple In Service

A military wedding of charming simplicity and of interest to many friends here, was that of Jeane Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morris of West Monroe, and Mr. Jerry Allen Mooney of Presque Isle, Maine.

Candles cast a soft glow over the wedding party as they stood before the altar decorated with arrangements of white stock, gladioli, and greenery, where the impressive double - ring ceremony was performed by Chaplain James S. Ferris of the Bellevue chapel.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Ferris at the organ rendered a program of prenuptial music as the small assemblage of guests was seated. A recording was played of the bride's favorite selections, "Through the Years" and "Because." The record was made and presented to her by Irving Zeidman of West Monroe.

Radioman Third Class Clifford Johnson served the groom as best man. Acting as usher was Bill Morris, a Navy ROTC student of A. P. I. Auburn, Ala. He is a brother of the bride.

Serving the bride as maid of honor was Radioman Seaman Anne Ragan who wore her Naval uniform of dress white and carried a small bouquet of red roses.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her Naval uniform of white. She carried a small bride's bouquet of pink rosebuds caught with tufts of maline and tied with cascading streamers of satin ribbon.

Following the ceremony the wedding party enjoyed a supper at the Neptune Room in downtown Washington. The orchestra dedicated several selections to the newlyweds and the bride, assisted by the groom cut the first slice of the tiered embossed cake, topped with the traditional bride and groom.

The couple left for a honeymoon to points in Maine and are at home at Apt. 3, 1676 Irving Street, N.W., Washington 10, D. C.

Mrs. Mooney was graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and is a member of Delta Kappa Pi sorority. She attended N. L. S. C. in the summer before joining the WAVES in October 1951. She is now Yeoman Seaman and stationed at the Pentagon where she works in the office of chief of Naval operations. Mr. Mooney enlisted in the Navy as soon as he graduated from high school in Presque Isle, Maine. He served in the Pacific theater and is Radioman second class stationed with the Navy Department on Constitution Avenue.

Natural Curve Is Prettiest

There's a beauty mistake frequently made by teen-agers. It's done in the name of reshaping their lips into more attractive attractive curves.

That is the mistake of giving the mouth a perpetual sneer by painting the lips higher at the sides than in the center.

The highest points of the lips are naturally at the bows in the center. They may be only a tiny fraction higher but there's a definite curve which slants down from these bows to the corners. It's one of the loveliest lines in a girl's face. To make the highest points at the sides is not only at variance with nature but cheapening to a girl's looks.

When you reshape your lips for greater beauty, keep the natural curve as your ideal and make your correction so slight that no one can see it. Everyone can see it when you remodel your mouth into an unnatural shape.

To make your lipstick lasting, paint on an outline of both lips with a lipstick brush. Your lips should be perfectly dry to begin with and the edges powdered. Fill in the outline with lipstick, working into the tiny lines in the lip skin. Let it set for five minutes while you do other things. Then press a tissue hard against your lips to remove excess lipstick.

The Skillet Club

By UNCLE FRANK KOHLER

Here are some ideas for your cocktail parties and buffet suppers. Mrs. R. LaMont Shugg, Skilleteer of the Detroit Times Chapter, gives us "Deviled Bread Sticks." To begin, you need an unsliced loaf of white bread (preferably a sandwich loaf). And then:

¼ lb. butter or margarine.
1 clove garlic, minced.
1 teaspoon herb mustard.
1 tablespoon beefsteak sauce.
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce.
2 tablespoons poppy seeds.

Cut bread in sticks one inch by one inch, about three inches or more in length. Melt butter in saucepan, add garlic and simmer a few minutes, then add the remaining ingredients and stir well.

Poppy seeds will settle to the bottom of the pan, so tilt it and dip the sticks in the mixture, coating all sides lightly and evenly. Bake in a slow oven on a cooky sheet, until they are crisp, turning occasionally. Reheat before serving. "Yum, yum with cocktails or soup!" she says. We agree.

We sometimes toast one-inch cubes of bread gently on each side, then cut a cavity in one side of each, and dip them in melted butter. We fill the cavities with grated American cheddar cheese, and toast the cubes until the cheese melts.

Here are two very fine sauce remoulade recipes, excellent with cold shrimp or other sea food, cold meats, even a salad. Skilleteer Frank Pattie, Chicago Daily News Chapter, found this one in New Orleans. His ingredients are:

1 yolk raw egg.
1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar.
3 teaspoons olive oil.
½ clove garlic, minced very fine.
½ teaspoon creole (or horseradish flavored mustard
Juice half a lemon.
Salt and cayenne pepper to taste

Remove the yolks from the hard-cooked eggs, saving the whites to be chopped and used as a garnish. Put the yolks in a bowl and mash them very fine until they are perfectly smooth, then add the mustard and mix well. Add vinegar, then salt and cayenne to taste.

Add olive oil, drop by drop, working it into the mixture, then add the yolk of the raw egg and mix that in until the mixture is light. Then add the juice of half a lemon. A little more oil and vinegar may be stirred in if you like.

3 tablespodons creole (or horseradish flavored) mustard.
3 cups mayonnaise.
2 tablespoons paprika.
3 tablespoons grated horseradish.
2 tablespoons Worcestershire.
2 dashes tabasco.
4 tablespoons cider vinegar.
4 heaping tablespoons freshly minced parsley.
Salt and pepper to taste.

Blend the ingredients well, let the whole thing stand in the refrigerator at least 12 hours before using. We suggest the use of the hard cooked egg whites chopped as a garnish in this case, too.

Send your favorite recipe and a stamped, addressed envelope to the Morning World and receive a life membership card in The Skillet Club.

"Ripe Olives on a Bun" are one of our favorite porch snacks. Split a frankfurter or hamburger roll in half. Cover with good-sized wedges of ripe olives which have been cut from the pits, top with a generous layer of mayonnaise mixed with chopped onion and curry. Place under broiler and broil until bubbly.

Altrusa Anniversary Is Celebrated With Banquet

Altrusa Club of Monroe proudly observed the thirty-sixth anniversary of Altrusa's founding, April 11, 1917, in Nashville, Tenn., with a dinner in the Cameo Room on Thursday evening.

Guest speakers on this occasion were Miss Josephine McCranie, who gave a most interesting and informative talk on "Vocational Guidance," and Mrs. B. B. Martin, who added a bit of gaiety and wit with her clever readings entitled, "How To Hold A Man" and "Father's Surprise."

Spring blossoms were placed at vantage points throughout the reception room. On the long T shaped table were beautiful arrangements of mixed bouquets containing golden yellow iris, blue stock, American beauty roses and painted daisy, flanked by burning blue tapers in crystal candelabra. The speaker's table held the same lovely arrangement of American beauty roses, golden yellow iris, blue stock and greenery with burning blue tapers. Centering the table was a huge blue and white birthday cake, shaped in the form of an "A" and surrounded with thirty-six blue candles.

Following the dinner, Dr. Katherine Foster, president of Altrusa introduced the speaker for the evening, Miss McCranie.

The birthday cake was cut by Mrs. Carr. Mrs. Adrienne Carr, charter member of Altrusa, gave a brief history of the club in which she said, "Altrusa is a builder of women; it makes possible the search for the best in character, in business and in citizenship, it propounds the "philosophy of unselfishness. In arousing women to their responsibilities and possibilities it demands more than being good, it insists on women being "good for something."

Among those present to enjoy this affair were: Mrs. Faye Heard, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Adrienne Carr, Miss Virginia V. LeClere, Mrs. Erlene Adams, Dr. Katherine Foster, Miss Mary Lee Frost, Miss Clydie Cox, Miss Josephine McCranie, Miss Helen Sype, Mrs. Abbie Leckie, Miss Ann Mickel, Mrs. Blanche Gates, Mrs. Gordie Phillips, Miss Lillie Glenn, Mrs. Louis Gruber, Miss Agatha Burkett, Miss Annis Klie, and Miss Bernice McCoy.

Even though whipped cream is not without calories, it does come in mighty handy to whip up quick and delicious desserts. This one we think is very, very good. Into a cup of sweetened whipped cream, fold a cup of diced bananas and ¼ cup roasted almonds. A tablespoon of rum affords a most exotic flavor. There'll be no complaints when this dessert is served.

You can clean shoes of straw, fiber, linen or other fabric, nylon mesh, patent leather and patent plastic with "dry" suds on a sponge. Stuff shoes with tissue paper on insert shoe-trees—sponge, rinse and dry away from heat.

Rosebud Thieves

One of the most important insects that attack garden roses is the flower thrips, says Mrs. Euna D. Spielman, Home Demonstration agent. Thrips enter the buds while they are still developing and they feed on the tender flowering parts. The damage that results are discolored petals and deformed flowers, and flower buds sometimes fail to open.

L. S. U. agricultural extension entomologist, Kirby Cockerham, says that to control thrips on garden roses, use a 5 per cent DDT dust. If you prefer spraying, mix some 50 per cent wettable DDT powder with water. Mix the spray by using three level tablespoonfuls of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder into each gallon of water.

To help prevent further infestation of new rosebuds, cut off the blooms that have reached their prime so as to prevent the thrips migrating from old blossoms to new buds.

A leaflet you can get from your county or home demonstration agent dealing with the control of insect pests on flowers and ornamental plants is called, "Control of Insect Pests of Ornamental and Flowering Plants."

SMILIN' JACK
THE FLIGHT CREW FLIPPED UP THE BARRIER LINES AND CAUGHT THE BOUNCING LIGHT PLANE.
...THEN JACK LOWERED HIS "BARN DOOR" FLAPS, LANDED HIS PLANE AND RUSHED UP TO THE SNARED PLANE TO CAPTURE BRASSNUCKS... BUT...
WIDOW VALENTINE HEARTFACE!! YOU?
LATER: THE CAPTAIN INVITED HIS "GUESTS" TO CHOW.
SO, JACK... YOU SAY YOU WERE CHASING A SMUGGLER AND GOT LOST IN BAD WEATHER...
...AND WHEN YOU BUSTED OUT, YOU CHASED THE WIDOW'S PLANE WHICH WAS SIMILAR TO THE SMUGGLER'S-- HO-HO-HO!

IT IS A FUNNY TWIST OF FATE, BUT IT WASN'T FUNNY WHEN I GOT LOST IN THE SAME BAD WEATHER!
...EVEN THO' BRASSNUCKS ESCAPED THIS TIME, WE'LL GET HIM AND "THE HAND" SOON! WON'T WE, JACK?
WITH YOUR STAUNCH SUPPORT, WIDOW, I'M SURE WE WILL!
WELL, WE'D BETTER TAKE OFF! I'LL FLY YOU TO THE NEW ORLEANS AIR TERMINAL, WIDOW!
I APOLOGIZE FOR UPSETTING YOUR OPERATIONS, BUT YOUR CARRIER SURE WAS A HAVEN OF MERCY!
GLAD TO BE OF SERVICE, WIDOW VALENTINE! WE'LL UNLOAD YOUR WRECKED AIRCRAFT AT PENSACOLA!
JACK HEADS INTO THE 30-KNOT HEAD WIND, SHOVES THE THROTTLE, CRACKS "JUMP-OFF" FLAPS AND IS OFF...

New FAB WASHES WHITER
WHITER WITHOUT A BLEACH THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH A BLEACH!
BLEACH IF YOU LIKE! BUT WHETHER YOU DO OR DON'T— FAB WASHES CLOTHES WHITER THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH A BLEACH!
GIANT SIZE
FAB
WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP
NO DULLING SOAP SCUM
WONDERFUL FOR DISHES, TOO!
AND FAB WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP ON EARTH!
Washable Colors Look Brighter, too!

NOTHING WHITENS LIKE FAB! You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach — whiter than any soap, whiter than any washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too — far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

SAVE WORK! SAVE HANDS! Fab immediately loosens dirt and keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking is needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out — even in hardest water. And Fab is wonderfully mild to hands!

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF!

Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots and pans shiny clean! If a bit of food clings, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scouring, no wiping — with Fab!

STEVE, WHAT ABOUT THAT GRAM BOY WHO FLEW THE 'ENEMY' AIRPLANE—AND THE ELM GIRL WHO SET THE FLARES?
WELL, SUMMER, HE'S IN THE HOSPITAL, UNDER ARREST—AND SHE'S OUT ON BAIL, BUT THEY WERE SMARTER THAN ANYONE THOUGHT...
—HE APPLIED FOR A PERMIT TO FLY OVER THE TOWN WITH A LOUDSPEAKER —AND TO SET OFF A FIREWORKS DISPLAY
—THEY'RE CHARGED WITH DISTURBING THE PEACE, BUT TECHNICALLY THEY DID ONLY WHAT THE PERMITS ALLOWED THEM TO DO..
THEY MEANT TO HELP THE GROUND OBSERVER CORPS PROGRAM BY SCARING THE PEOPLE INTO BEING ALERT, BUT-- NOW THEY KNOW HOW DANGEROUS THAT VIGILANTE STUFF CAN BE...
HOW DOES THE AIR FORCE STAND WITH INDIAN CAPE AFTER ALL THIS ?
ALL KINDS OF NEWS TRAVELS FAST THERE! ...WHEN I CALLED TO TELL THE MAYOR THE AIR FORCE HAD NO HAND IN GRAM'S RAID.
...HE SAID HE KNEW OLD MAN RAINN HAD STARTED THE SQUAWKS ABOUT THE AIR BASE IN ORDER TO GRAB THE LAND FOR A PERSONAL FINANCIAL KILLING...!
—SO WE ARRANGED TO SET UP A WORKABLE COMMUNITY RELATIONS PLAN—AS OTHER SERVICE BASES HAVE DONE!
THINGS SEEM TO BE WORKING OUT VERY WELL, STEVE!
